FULL HOUSE LIKELY . . .

Construction Bill Action Expected

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature, recently-hampered by absenteeism, is expected to be almost at full strength Thursday for reconsideration of its capital construction appropriations bill and possible final reading determination of eight highway bills.

The highway proposals are scheduled for final reading Friday, but supporters expect a motion to consider the measures Thursday while most senators are in their seats.

Whereas the Unicameral has been operating recently with a dozen to 15 lawmakers missing, only four of the 49 senators are officially excused for Thursday.

Three Backers

Three of the four have been supporters of the floor additions to the capital construction bill.

Sen. William Wylie of Elgin has filed a motion to reconsider the 26-12 final reading vote which enacted the construction measure, LB1425, last week.

Lawmakers are expected to approve the reconsideration motion in view of an attorney general's opinion which suggests that all items in the bill which are greater than the governor's recommendations will need 33 votes to be valid.

That opinion jeopardizes more than $11 million in projects added to the bill through floor amendments, and a good many other projects originally recommended by the Budget Committee.

To Seek Eliminations

If lawmakers accept his motion to reconsider, Wylie said, he will then ask that the bill be amended to eliminate all floor additions.

That would include $10,335,000 for the University of Nebraska, $638,400 for an activities, recreation and education building at the Beatrice State Home, and $280,000 for a Buffalo Bill's Ranch arena at North Platte.

Wylie's amendment would need 25 votes.

An earlier floor attempt to eliminate the $10.3 million addition for the University fell one vote short. It lost on a 24-20 count.

Several Projects

NU additions include $5,485,000 for projects in Omaha and $4,850,000 for library improvements at the downtown Lincoln campus.

Among the eight highway bills which may face final reckoning Thursday are proposals to increase motor fuel taxes by one cent a gallon; allocate sales tax revenue from motor vehicles to highway construction; change the distribution of highway revenue, and enact a new highway classification and planning system.

One of the bills, LB1303, altering allocation of funds among the state, cities and counties, apparently will need 33 votes to be fully enacted.

Recreation Roads

That measure appropriates $1,734,600 from the general fund for construction of recreation roads, an appropriation not recommended in Gov. Norbert Tiemann's budget.

If the bill failed to garner 33 votes, it presumably could be enacted without the direct appropriation item.

Following behind the eight bills which have reached final reading are four additional highway study committee proposals, including the measure which would increase motor vehicle registration fees. That proposal, LB1304, is scheduled for a final vote next Monday.

KENNEDY KEEPS SEAT

Senator Planning Re-Election Bid

. . . PRESIDENCY IN '72 OUT?

Boston (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, after weighing thousands of messages of support, has decided to remain in office and run for re-election in 1970, his office said Wednesday. The statement implied he would not seek the presidency in 1972.

The two-paragraph statement came 10 days after an auto accident which killed a pretty young Washington secretary and prompted Kennedy to consider resigning.

"Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is returning to Washington to resume his duties as United States senator and assistant majority leader," the office said in a statement.

"He is grateful to the people of Massachusetts for their expressions of confidence and expects to submit his record to them as a candidate for re-election in 1970. If re-elected, he will serve out his entire six-year term," the brief statement said.

Attended Funeral

The statement was released about three hours after Kennedy flew from his summer home in Hyannis Part to the Plainfield, N.J., funeral of Henry P. Marshall, father of former Asst., U.S. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, a close friend of Kennedy.

The Massachusetts Democrat flew on to Washington from the funeral.

The 37-year-old Senate whip first was elected in 1962, succeeding Benjamin Smith, a Harvard roommate of John F. Kennedy who was appointed to the Senate after John Kennedy was elected president in 1960.

Edward Kennedy won his first full term in 1964, five months after he broke his back in a plane crash in poor weather while flying to the state Democratic convention. An aide and the pilot were killed.

'Biggest Gun'

Earlier in the day Wednesday, a top-level Republican source said the Massachusetts GOP would present its "biggest gun possible" as an opponent next year if Kennedy decided to run for re-election.

The GOP source said the two top candidates in 1970 appeared to be former Gov. John A. Volpe, now U.S. secretary of transportation, and Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson, former Massachusetts attorney general.

Other potential candidates in the search for the "biggest gun possible," the source said, were Rep. F. Bradford Morse, who is serving his fifth term in Congress, and State Sen. William L. Saltonstall, whose father represented Massachusetts in the Senate for 22 years before retiring in 1966.

100,000 Pieces

Post office officials said more than 100,000 pieces of mail had been sent to the senator's office in Boston, including more than 15,000 Wednesday.

A Western Union spokesman said several hundred more telegrams were delivered to Kennedy's home, bringing to about 33,000 the number delivered since his national television speech Friday night in which he asked for "advice and opinion" on whether to resign in the aftermath of an auto wreck on Chappaquiddick Island in which Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, drowned.

Kennedy said on his 12-minute telecast the question of resigning had arisen and he wanted the people of Massachusetts to help him decide his next step.

NIXON MINGLES . . . with American troops at Di An, South Vietnam.

Officials Believe Nixon To Recall More Troops

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington (AP) — U.S. officials appear increasingly confident that President Nixon will be able to order next month a substantial second withdrawal of American combat troops from Vietnam.

The reason is that the relative lulling ground fighting has now continued for six weeks and they believe it may go on indefinitely. Some authorities are beginning to think that the lower level of enemy operations, indeed, may result from a basic decision in Hanoi to de-escalate the war.

If the present scale of combat continues for at least another three weeks, officials say, it is certain to be one of the key considerations in Nixon's next decision on reducing the size of the American force in South Vietnam. The other major consideration will be the readiness of the South Vietnamese to replace Americans with their own forces.

Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu talked about removal of U.S. fighting men and their replacement by South Vietnamese during their conference at Saigon Wednesday. Thieu said the U.S. President and he "noted with satisfaction the smooth and efficient replacement" of Americans by South Vietnamese. He also linked the next withdrawal decision to progress in the peace negotiations in Paris though he stressed that attention would be given also to the level of fighting in Vietnam and to South Vietnam's readiness to replace Americans.

Pressure Applied

Thieu's reference to peace negotiations apparently was designed to put some new pressure on North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. Nixon followed the same line, saying that the United States and South Vietnam have made their peace concession and "now it is time for the other side" to respond.

But officials here saw little immediate indication of new progress in Paris, although they talk hopefully of some unexpected new move by Hanoi which could come at any moment.

The Paris stalemate magnifies the importance of the possible — but wholly undeclared — trend toward de-escalation in South Vietnam and the impact that it is having on U.S. thinking.

When the number of Communist attacks first declined in late June and battalion-size operations gave way to small unit actions, U.S. military authorities warned that the enemy was probably falling back to reorganize for a new offensive.

Adjustment Made

Such an explanation has still not been ruled out but is much less emphasized now. Washington policymakers have become more concerned with the chance that Hanoi has decided to adjust its strategy to the fact that some U.S. fighting men have already come home and more can be expected to follow.

Supporting this possibility, authorities say, is the continuing low level of troop infiltration from North Vietnam. The southward movement of enemy soldiers through Laos declined more than two months ago. If the North Vietnamese were planning extensive new military actions, the assumption here is that the drop in infiltration would have been reversed before this.

Bill Would Prevent State Ed Board From Revoking Many Certificates

Legislation designed to prevent work stoppages by teachers was revised by lawmakers Wednesday in such a way as to strip the State Board of Education of any authority to suspend or revoke teacher's certificates in Lincoln.

The revisions would also knock out the board's authority with respect to teachers in Omaha and in Class III districts, those which operate K-12 systems in communities of 1,000 to 50,000 persons.

LB958, sponsored by Sen. William Wylie of Elgin was aimed at empowering the state board to revoke or suspend the teaching certificate of any instructor "for work-stoppage which results in disrupting or halting classroom instruction."

Urged By NSIA

Under questioning from Sen. Bill Bloom of Omaha, Wylie acknowledged that the bill was suggested to him by the rural-oriented Nebraska School Improvement Association.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff thereupon proposed that the measure apply only to Class I, II and VI rural districts. His amendment was accepted on a voice vote.

But the language of the amendment would not only preclude the state board from acting in the event of work stoppages in the state's larger school systems, but eliminate its authority to suspend or revoke teacher's certificates in those districts for any reason whatsoever.

Many Reasons

Certificates may be taken away in all schools now if a teacher is guilty of incompetence, immorality, intemperance, cruelty, crime, negligence, unprofessional conduct, or physical or mental incapacity.

As amended by Carpenter, LB958 gained 18-10 advancement from its first floor test.

Sen. Wayne Schreurs of Seward, a teacher himself, attempted to kill the bill in its original form, but was turned down on a 15-17 vote.

Schreurs said the measure is unnecessary, that teachers are prohibited from striking under other legislation. Bloom agreed, and questioned the bill's constitutionality.

Revised Bill

In other action at the initial stage of floor debate, senators handed 25-0 approval to a revised bill which would permit voluntary admission and discharge of persons from facilities for the mentally retarded.

The bill, LB728, also retains state law which provides for commitment procedures. It had been killed on the floor once, but was revived when Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln promised revisions to meet the criticism of senators who objected to strictly voluntary admission.

Simpson's bill also provides for evaluation and testing of persons for placement in the most suitable facility.

Senate Leaders Reach Compromise On Surtax

Washington (UPI) — The Senate leadership broke a deadlock late Wednesday and agreed to a compromise six-month extension of the 10% income tax surcharge.

With the surcharge due to expire only 13 hours later, the Senate will meet at 10 a.m. CDT Thursday to vote on the compromise, agreed upon after long days of partisan pulling and tugging.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield had held out for a five-month extension and committing the Senate to add a comprehensive set of tax reforms to the surcharge. He had threatened to let the surcharge lapse altogether if the Republicans did not agree.

Senate Republicans had sought passage of the bill that President Nixon wanted — extending the surcharge for a full year, at a 10% rate the first six months and at 5% the final six months. This bill passed the House a month ago but Mansfield had bottled it up in the Senate.

Began To Dissolve

It appeared at the outset Wednesday that the Senate was hopelessly deadlocked. But by mid-afternoon, the impasse began to dissolve.

First, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who Tuesday night had relayed word from Nixon in Bangkok, Thailand, that a five-month extension would be unacceptable, hinted the administration might be receptive to a compromise if it were initiated by the Democrats.

Then the Senate Democratic policy committee approved a six-month extension, until Dec. 31, and Mansfield and Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, took the latest plan to Republican leaders.

Best Answer

Mansfield emerged from a meeting with Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen and Sen. John J. Williams, Del., the ranking Finance Committee Republican, and announced agreement on the six-month extension as the best and fastest answer to Nixon's plea for the surtax as an anti-inflationary device.

The compromise will be attached to a House-passed unemployment compensation bill, which will have to be approved again by the House and signed by Nixon before the surtax extension becomes law.

This was expected to occur without delay.

Under the agreement, Williams will have the right to offer an amendment extending the surtax to the full year sought by the President.

PETERSEN . . . selected for Title I position.

Remedial Programs To Get Face-Lifting, New Chief

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

For its fifth year of operation, the Title I remedial reading and speech program in the Lincoln Public Schools will have a new director and different emphasis for some phases of the operation.

Fred Petersen, a former Plattsmouth school administrator has replaced Miss Ruth Eickman as director of the project.

Petersen will officially work in the federal position, financed under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, and also serve half-time as administrative assistant to the associate superintendent in charge of curriculum, Dr. R. L. Fredstrom.

With this job combination, school officials hope that Title I can be better integrated into the regular school program and district resources can in turn be utilized by the federal component when desirable.

Lincoln expects to receive some $192,000 in Title I funds for the 1969-70 school year, but expenditures for the remedial reading and speech program are expected to be somewhat less than the $129,188 authorized for last year.

Funds required for a Follow Through program and summer Title I projects in 1970 will leave about $109,775 for reading-speech during the school year, according to Petersen.

Next year officials will attempt to "concentrate all of the schools' resources to help these youths" with special reading and speech problems, Petersen explained.

More Cooperation

Increased cooperation with other federal programs as well as putting control of Title I reading teachers within the structure of the regular school program under the principals will be the aim, he said.

Title I diagnostic services will remain available to all public and private school students, but follow-up services for children with reading problems will be intensified in fewer schools, it was pointed out.

A significant cut is planned for the media phase of Title I. While last year two persons were used, a person will work half-time in the position next year, according to the proposal.

Less Media Training

Teacher training in media use is "not a recurring need," according to Petersen, who added that new teachers are well prepared in this area.

The media person will work primarily in individual schools helping teachers develop their own materials, Petersen said.

It is expected that two community aides — paraprofessionals who will "hopefully be parents" — will be added to the Title I staff, he noted, "in an effort to reinforce the atmosphere of cooperation among the neighborhood and schools.

Although some school officials have indicated a strong interest in establishing an "independent study center" for dropouts, there apparently will not be enough Title I funds to start one next year.

Omaha has an independent study center in which students attend for a half day and study with teachers on a one-to-one basis. The Omaha center, however, is financed with Title VIII funds of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Nixon Meets Leaders, Troops In S. Vietnam

(C) New York Times News Service

Bangkok — President Nixon conferred with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and Gen. Creighton Abrams, commander of American forces, reportedly to discuss future troop withdrawals and the current lull in enemy battlefield activity. Nixon also visited U.S. troops at Di An, 12 miles north of the capital, and assured them that he would do his job "to see that you didn't fight in vain." (More on Page 2.)

Nixon Visit Aids Thieu

Saigon — Although Nixon's visit to South Vietnam was hectic and brief, it was considered a political windfall for President Thieu, who has been severely criticized for his recent offer to the Viet Cong to participate in elections as prelude to peace. It was a visible demonstration to the South Vietnamese people of Nixon's continued support — support that many thought was wavering.

Israel Opens New Front

Jerusalem — Israel has extended its aerial offensive across her northern border into Syria and Lebanon. A government communique reported that Israeli jets attacked an Arab guerrilla base, believed by Israeli officials to be responsible for much of the recent terrorism in the Golan Heights region. (More on Page 29.)

Mariner Spies On Mars

Pasadena, Calif. — The Mariner 6 spacecraft is expected to pass within 2,000 miles of Mars, photographing the red planet with lenses powerful enough to show features as small as Yankee Stadium. The photographs will be made public Friday night. (More on Page 26.)

Kennedy To Keep Post

Washington — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has announced that he will retain both his Senate seat and position as majority whip after receiving an overwhelming vote of confidence from the people of Massachusetts. Kennedy also said that he would seek re-election next year to serve out the "entire six-year term," apparently ruling himself out of the 1972 presidential race. (More on Page 1.)

Soviet Writer Defects

London — Anatoly V. Kuznetsov, a young Soviet writer under attack for his liberal views, has defected to the West and received permission to live in Britain. British officials said that this was not a "political asylum," thus avoiding a possible diplomatic tangle with Moscow over whether Kuznetsov was in danger of persecution for his political activities.

Pope To Seek Peace

Rome — Pope Paul VI, leaving Thursday for a three-day visit to Uganda where he will consecrate 12 new African bishops, has confirmed that he will attempt "to try to open any way to an ronorable negotiation" in the two-year-old Nigerian-Biafran conflict. (More on Page 2.)

Surtax Compromise Reached

Washington — A compromise between Democratic and Republican leaders in the Senate was reached Wednesday, permitting both the administration's plan for extension of the surtax and a Democratic plan to be offered for a vote in the Senate Thursday. (More on Page 1.)

House Adds Education Funds

Washington — The House voted to add about $1 billion to President Nixon's education budget. Although the vote was tentative, House leaders generally agreed that the increased funds would be added to the $17.6 billion money bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare before going to the Senate.

U.S. Forming Berlin Plan

Washington — The Nixon administration is preparing a formal bid to the Soviet Union to tear down the Berlin Wall as part of a new Berlin initiative now under discussion by the three western powers and West Germany. The approach by Britain, France and the United States, expected sometime later this summer, would be the first concerted effort on the Berlin problem since 1962.

Treasury Offers New Rate

Washington — The Treasury Department has offered to pay an effective interest rate of 7.82%, the highest in more than 100 years, on a note to refinance $3.2 billion in securities that mature Aug. 15. The Treasury decided that it would offer to the holders of the maturing securities, which are six per cent notes, the single option of an 18-month note rather than a choice of a longer-term security, as it usually does.

Nixon Leaves Vietnam; Communists Criticized

World News

Bangkok (AP) — President Nixon swept in and out of South Vietnam Wednesday, saying: "We have gone as far as we can or should go in opening the door of negotiations which will bring peace."

Nixon made his statement at Independence Palace in Saigon where he conferred with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Recounting the peace offers made by the allies at the Paris talks, Nixon said it is now time for the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong "to sit down with us and talk seriously about ways to stop the killing."

Later at a combat base near Saigon, he told U.S. infantrymen: "Out here in this dreary, difficult war, I think history will record that this may have been one of America's finest hours, because we took a difficult task and we succeeded."

Stop In India Next

Nixon dashed to nearby Vietnam and back before heading for India Thursday on his round-the-world tour.

Nixon's noon arrival at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport and his helicopter hop to the Presidential Palace marked the first visit by an American president to the South Vietnamese capital. Nixon was in Vietnam for 5½ hours.

His call at Di An, a small base in scrub country some 12 miles north of Saigon, was the first presidential trip into a combat operations area in Vietnam — though military officers reported Di An had not come under any enemy attack for nearly a year.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson limited his Vietnam visits in 1966 and 1967 to Cam Ranh Bay, a big U.S. coastal base 180 miles northeast of Saigon. That base is rated as the safest station in the country.

Secrecy Upheld

Security and secrecy engulfed the Nixon trip as it began from Bangkok without advance announcement. It was unscheduled on his three-day visit to Thailand. A White House source said later the President had planned all along to go to Vietnam, despite strenuous objections from the Secret Service.

Mrs. Nixon went along too and helicoptered to an orphanage and to U.S. Army field hospital outside Saigon.

The President mixed sports talk with more serious observations as he chatted with camouflage-helmeted troops of the 1st Infantry Division at Di An.

"Chicago? See the Cubs? They might take it all," baseball fan Nixon would say to a GI who came from the Windy City. "Tigers aren't so hot this year," he told a Detroiter.

Troops Meet Nixon

Trekking about the muddy red clay by foot and motoring in a jeep, the commander in chief talked to Cobra and light observation helicopter crews, to defenders of bunkers within the barbed wire perimeter, to ranking officers and to privates. He pinned Distinguished Service Crosses on three of the men.

"What happens in Vietnam, how this war is ended, may well determine what happens to peace and freedom in all of Asia," he told the servicemen.

Nixon took the same view after meeting with Thieu for more than two hours in war-and-peace strategy discussions.

Standing with the 42-year-old Vietnamese leader on the steps of the presidential palace, Nixon said:

"The stakes here, important as they are for the people of North and South Vietnam, are important also to all the world."

"It is time to bring an end to the war, but to bring an end to the war in a way that will not encourage another war; bring an end to the war in a way which will provide the right to choose the kind of government they want for the people of South Vietnam, and in providing that right, make it more possible for the other nations in Southeast Asia to retain that same right for themselves."

8 Guerrillas Die

Kucying, Sarawak (UPI) — Indonesian troops have killed eight Communist guerrillas and captured six others in jungle operations during the past two months in Indonesian Borneo, an army spokesman announced.

STATE HUNTS KILLER

Michigan state authorities will take control of the manhunt for the killer or killers of seven young women. Gov. William Milliken, left, and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Wednesday. The seven victims were all found slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the last two years.

OAS Ministers Okay Settlement

Washington (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Organization of American States unanimously approved Wednesday night resolutions providing for a peaceful settlement of the two-week-old Honduras-El Salvador crisis.

The resolutions call for the immediate withdrawal of Salvadoran troops from Honduran territory accompanied by guarantees for the safety of Salvadorans living in Honduras and vice versa.

Pope Paul To Launch Effort To Stop Nigerian Fighting

©The New York Times

Kampala, Uganda — Pope Paul VI will make a major effort to launch a new Nigerian peace offensive during his visit to Kampala this week, ecclesiastical sources said Wednesday.

The sources indicated that the exact nature of the Pope's plans was not yet known. But they suggested that he might try to bring representatives of the Nigerian federal government and the rebel Biafran regime together and extract from them a commitment to begin a new series of face-to-face negotiations next month.

A four-man Nigerian delegation, headed by chief Anthony Enahoro, minister for information and labor, arrived here before dawn.

Even Chance Seen

Enahoro, who also serves as a roving ambassador, conceded at a news conference that there was "an even chance" peace would be discussed. The chief, who is considered a hard-liner, also said he doubted anything could be accomplished beyond perhaps "laying some groundwork" for the future.

Asked whether he would take part in discussions of a settlement, he replied:

"I'm not going to say that I'm here on a religious mission and refuse to sit down and talk about the war. That would be irresponsible. But I have no mandate to carry on peace talks."

Three Biafran representatives are reportedly en route to Kampala, including Uastine Okwu, the secessionist government's agent in East Africa. The delegation appears less prestigious than those Biafra has sent to other international gatherings.

Okwu said in Dar-es-Slalaam, Tanzamia, that the presence of Enahoro made him doubt that any real progress would be made here.

That is also the consensus of diplomats and other observers. Enahoro made it clear that the Nigerians still insist that the Biafrans renounce secession before beginning negotiations, and Biafran spokesmen have pledged never to do so.

The Organization of African Unity has failed four times in 21 months to bring an end to the two-year-old civil war.

Some Nigerian officials had hoped that the curtailment of relief flights into Biafra and the reduction in the flow of French arms and ammunition would sway Gen. Odumegwu Ojukwu, the Biafran leader.

Nevertheless, Pope Paul is reportedly determined to attempt some sort of mediation. He has repeatedly expressed concern about the war — especially about the fate of hungry children and other civilians in Biafra, with its big Roman Catholic population.

Girl Scouts Love 'Usch'

. . . German Girl Hit Of Camp

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Nebraska City — Parents, don't be startled if your daughter comes bounding back from Girl Scout camp claiming to be a "Pfadfinderin."

Or if she speaks in heroic measure of a newly-made friend named "Usch." The 21-year-old German counselor — full name Ursula Schempershofe — has been the hit of Camp Catron in its hosting of some 200 girls this summer.

A suburban Dusseldorf resident, the visitor was assigned to Nebraska through the International Camp Counselor Program. Catron's closing this weekend will end her seven weeks of swapping experiences — and vocabulary.

"Many new English words were given to me, especially camp words such as swimming pool and shower house and latrine," said the ever funning fraulein. "But I like best the food ones, pork chop and marshmallow and most of all corn on the cob."

A kindergarten teacher in her homeland, Miss Schempershofe borrowed music from her classes to teach fascinated Nebraska hikers. Thus, the jolly German folk songs which have echoed over the 48-acre camp all summer.

Praises Visitor

"Usch has excelled both as teacher and learner," praised camp director Dee Watson, a physical education instructor from Storm Lake, Iowa. "It's fantastic the way she has managed to communicate with our girls."

Indelible impressions of nearby Arbor Lodge State Park are among the "souvenirs" Usch will take with her as she returns to Germany in September. The friendliness of Catron's 15-member staff as well as girls from throughout the entire Homestead Council have also made the experience memorable.

Among other highlights have been campfire sessions and numerous "midnight hikes" to the Missouri River, actually staged right after sundown. Archery, horseback riding and creek-walking have been other standouts for the visitor.

Miss Schempershofe will spend three weeks in Lincoln before making a windup tour of the eastern U.S. Her Lincoln host will be Mrs. Doris Steele, council executive director.

A "Pfadfinderin," by the way, is the German counterpart of an American Girl Scout.

"I never was a Scout myself," said Usch, "so I have learned many things here besides new words."

Tractor Deaths Concern Governor

By The Associated Press

Gov. Norbert Tiemann Wednesday proclaimed this week to be farm safety week in Nebraska

"I urge all persons who live on farms, and those persons associated with agriculture in other ways to intensify their efforts to prevent accidents at work, at home, and at recreation pastimes," the governor said in the proclamation message.

He noted that recent farm accidents have involved teenagers using heavy equipment and urged parents to make certain their machinery is in proper order before operated by their children.

Nationally, farm safety week as proclaimed by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture was observed last week, July 20-26.

The governor's office said Tiemann had been concerned about recent fatalities involving farm machinery in Nebraska and wanted to participate in a safety effort by means of a proclamation.

An aide said the proclamation was prepared for the governor in a mistaken belief that this week — rather than last week — was farm safety week nationally, and the discrepancy in dates thus was totally inadvertent.

The Nebraska proclamation nonetheless remains in force and continues to reflect Tiemann's concern, the aide said.

Farm tractor fatalities reported this week have involved a 12-year-old boy killed near Amelia in Holt County, and a 13-year-old boy killed while driving a tractor on a county road near Orchard.

Rollin Schnieder, farm safety specialist at the University of Nebraska, said 19 farm tractor fatalities have been counted so far this year, compared with 29 recorded during all of last year.

Meat Center Architectural Contract Told

Washington (AP) — Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., Wednesday was notified of an award of the architectural contract for Phase II of the U.S. Meat Animal Research Center at Clay Center, Neb.

Martin was notified by the General Services Administration, that its regional office will award the design contract Friday to Henningsen, Durham and Richardson, Inc., of Omaha.

Nebraska News

The basic design contract, a GSA spokesman said, is for $16,700, with contact option design phases that would result in a total fee of $139,999.

Martin said the design completion is expected within 45 weeks or around the first of June, 1970.

Estimated construction costs for the research center range from $2.2 million to $2.7 million.

Phase II includes the basic research facility. The earlier pnase included storage bins and some other labs and feed facilities. That phase, involving about $475,000 in construction costs, was announced about a month ago.

Salary Of Muny Court Judge Set At $15,000

Grand Island (UPI) — The City Council here held a special meeting Wednesday and unanimously adopted an ordinance setting the Grand Island Municipal Court judge's salary at $15,000 a year.

The move rescinded an ordinance adopted Monday night which set the salary at $250 a month.

The council was told by Hall County Atty. Robert Paulick and County Bar Association President Lloyd Kelley Jr. that the city was facing a judicial dilemma. They said the council's Monday night action bordered on malfeasance.

The council set the salary at $250 per month in expectation that there would be no candidates for the position, the two said. They told the council it was obligated by law to set up the court and pay a reasonable salary.

The Monday night action was seen as a protest against the law passed just this year creating the judgship.

3 Candidates

There are currently three candidates for the post, attorneys John Story and Joseph Martin and deputy Hall County Atty. Gerald Buechler. None of the three was expected to take the job at the lower figure.

A judicial nominating commission charged with selecting candidates for the post will meet here Aug. 15. Sometime after that the commission, headed by state Supreme Court Justice Leslie Boslaugh, will submit three candidates to Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann for the selection of one as judge. In the meantime Hall County Judge Edward Dixon has said he will handle city cases until about Sept. 1.

Grand Island is without a police magistrate since the Municipal Court law eliminated the office. The governor is expected to sign a bill shortly which would eliminate a justice of the peace court in Grand Island.

City officials said they could continue to study whether the city would join Scottsbluff in a suit testing the constitutionality of the municipal court law. City Atty. Duane Burns said he has been told by the Scottsbluff city attorney that Scottsbluff would definitely file a test case with the state Supreme Court.

Third City, Danbury Youths Fatally Injured In Accidents

By United Press International

A Grand Island man was killed early Wednesday morning in a one-car crash in the Fonner Park parking lot, and a 17-year-old Danbury youth died Tuesday in a two-truck collision near Hemingford.

The State Patrol said Dale Houts, 21, Grand Island, was killed about 2:25 a.m. Wednesday when his car went out of control in the parking lot at Fonner Park, located on the southeast edge of Grand Island, and struck two utility poles. He was alone in the car at the time.

Victim of the two-truck crash was Lynn Leibbrandt, driver of a northbound truck, which sideswiped a southbound truck driven by Richard Smith, 19, Alliance, the patrol said.

The accident occurred on a county road eight miles southwest of Hemingford.

Dr. Stewart, 99, Cambridge, Dies; Served 61 Years

Cambridge — Services were held here Tuesday for longtime Cambridge physician Dr. Benjamin F. Stewart. Dr. Stewart died Saturday at the age of 99.

The doctor practiced medicine in Cambridge for 43 years, before retiring in 1961. The few years before his retirement he went into partial retirement.

A native of Stockport, Iowa, he graduated from Keokuk Medical College in Iowa in 1900 and began practicing in Oklahoma City. He moved to Moorefield in 1915 and two years later went to Farnam.

During the flu epidemic in 1918, the medical war board sent him to Cambridge where he practiced with another doctor. In 1930 he began his own practice there.

The physician was a member of the United Methodist Church and had received a 50-year membership pin from the American Medical Association.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Helen Mosley of Wilsonville, three grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

Jobless Britons Up

London (AP) — The total of British unemployed rose to 512,261 in July, 13,647 higher than the June figure, the government announced. That's 2.2% of the nation's labor force.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By ALBERT L. KRAUS

(Note: William O. Dobler, The Star's editor, is on vacation. Today's column is by Albert L. Kraus, financial analyst, of the New York Times.)

NEW YORK — For years, some economists have looked upon the stock market as a sort of appendix of the economy. It is there, and thus to be reckoned with, but hardly necessary. Like money in the bank, shares — and other financial assets such as bonds, deeds and mortgages — represent shifting claims to wealth, they say, but not wealth itself.

Why then, all the concern about the continuing fall in stock prices which has taken the market down one-fifth since its highs of last fall?

The answer is that the stock market is a mirror of investor expectations, both for the individual companies and for the economy as a whole. Not an unflawed mirror. Industries and companies brighten and fade because of fashion or because of the special attention given or denied them by a limited segment of the market, the performance funds, for instance.

Overall, the stock market has signalled more turns in the economy than have actually occurred. Nevertheless, the stock market serves as a rough score card of industry and company performance and as a leading economic indicator. A company with below-average earnings and poor prospects of growth will be rewarded by a low price earnings multiple. This, in turn, will inhibit the company in its ability to attract capital and management.

One of the painful aspects of tight money and the eight-month decline in share prices is the fact that some of the sharpest price drops have occurred in the shares of young companies for whom growth seems assured as long as they can command capital. Along with the more obvious frauds, some of these needed venturers are likely to fall by the way. And the economy, for a time at least, will lose the fruits of their innovation and competition.

By the same token, stodgy old companies, heavy with cash and hidden assets but with meager growth prospects, usually command low price/earnings multiples. They are thus prime targets for take-over. Tight money and a sharp drop in stock prices, however, mean that acquirers who might bring efficiency and growth to the operations of old line companies find themselves with less cash and credit and with lower value stock to offer shareholders in exchange for their shares.

The economy, thus, is denied some of the pruning and purging effects of an active take-over program. Once again, innovation suffers. Anti-competitive forces, for the moment at least, are given a new lease on life.

Overall, the stock market may be an over-sensitive barometer, sometimes predicting storms when none has followed. But it has never failed to predict on storms that actually occurred. That is what makes the present situation ominous.

The decline in share prices should not have come as a surprise. It has happened before whenever an easy money policy has been reversed sharply as it was last December. In fact, the degree of tightening that has occurred — a 2.5 per cent increase in the money supply since December compared with a 6.5 per cent rise over the previous year — suggests that the decline of stock prices may still have some distance to go.

The talk of tax reform has added a new dimension to the stock market's decline. This may be all to the good in helping to puncture inflationary expectations. But talk of tax reform undoubtedly has certain political liabilities as well. Until now the war against the stock market, in the name of the drive against inflation, has been Nixon's war, and that of the Federal Reserve. Now, however, the Democrats have been pulled into the fight.

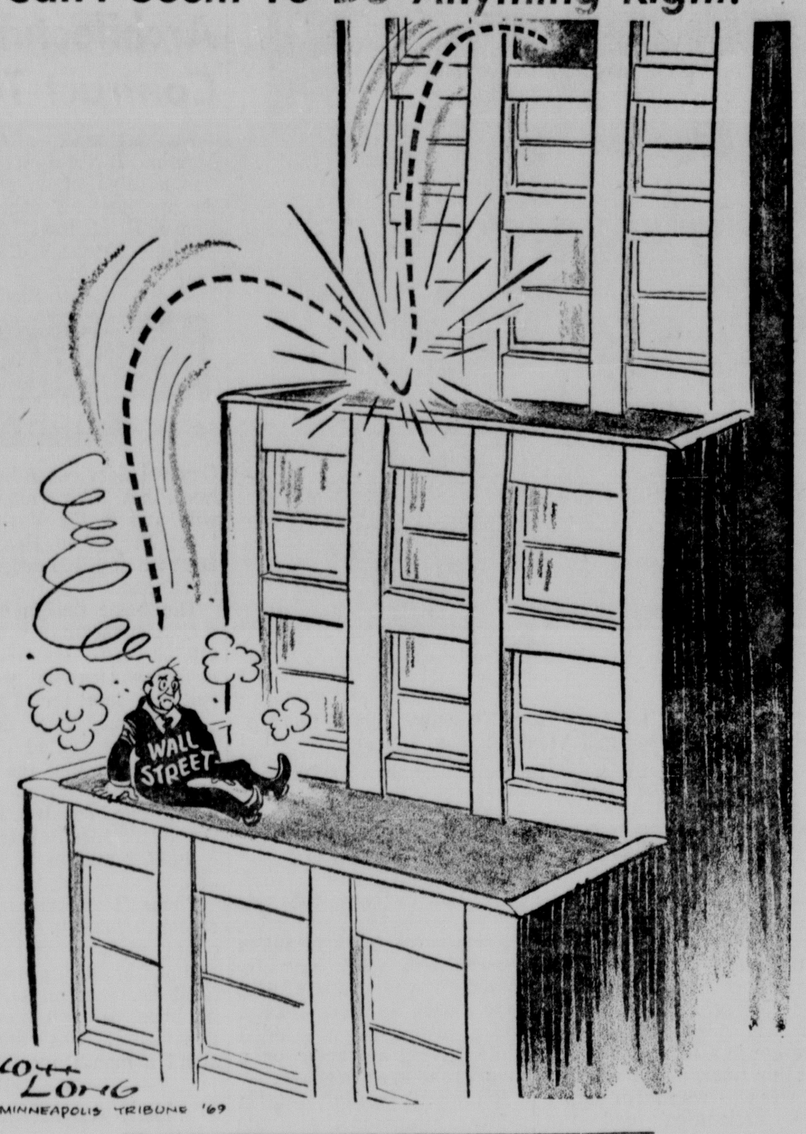
'Can't Seem To Do Anything Right!'



No More Concessions

President Nixon's statement in Saigon Wednesday leads ever closer to the conclusion that our part in the war will be ended unilaterally through the process of gradual troop withdrawals dependent on the ability of the South Vietnamese army to take up the slack.

In this shadowy game, if one could hazard a guess, there is little likelihood of a negotiated settlement unless the U.S. simply gives up at the conference table and accepts whatever the communists demand.

"We have gone as far as we can or should go in opening the door to peace and now it is time for the other side to respond . . . I believe that the record is clear as to which (side) has gone the extra mile on behalf of peace," the President said in meeting with President Thieu of South Vietnam.

The record, if anyone needs reminding:

—The U.S. has halted the bombing of North Vietnam.

—We have withdrawn 25,000 troops from Vietnam, with the President hopeful of withdrawing over half of the remaining troops by the end of next year.

—President Thieu has offered and the communists have rejected a proposal for free elections under international supervision in which the Viet Cong could participate.

The communists in return have not budged from their position of demanding a withdrawal of all U.S. troops as a prerequisite for negotiating a coalition government in the South.

The President must see that the communists won't be equally as generous and that the only alternatives left to him to lead us out of the war are either a dramatic increase in the capacity of South Vietnam to defend itself or for the United States to compromise its principles and abruptly pull out. An end to the war which would be satisfactory to the U.S. is next to impossible to achieve, unless it is based on military initiative.

Voc-Tech School In Omaha

Which is the best approach in providing for a vocational-technical school in Omaha? Two bills advanced from first reading by the Legislature would accomplish it.

One, LB979, would establish six community college districts throughout the state to operate junior colleges and area vocational-technical schools.

Also advanced was Sen. Edward Danner's LB177, establishing a state vocational-technical shool to be operated in Omaha by the State Board of Vocational Education. Sen. Danner is probably right in worrying that the community college bill probably can't do for Omaha what needs to be done.

The need for a facility that teaches job skill is greater in Omaha than in any area of the state. There are more unemployed and unemployable young people there than in any other city and likewise in Omaha lies the greatest opportunity for employment. The school would not be established solely for minority group youths — in fact Sen. Danner has said he doesn't want it located in Omaha's predominantly Negro Near North Side — but would be located to serve youths from all the population centers of eastern Nebraska.

Without judging the other merits of LB979, the community college bill would not require the establishment of a vocational-technical school in Omaha and if one were established, there would be a much smaller tax base to support it.

Under Sen. Danner's bill, however, a school would be established in Omaha with statewide resources behind it. And using Milford as an example, it would be safe to assume that a school under control of the state vocational education board would be a superior facility. We urge passage of LB177.

One Sure Vote

Alliance, Neb.

It's disgusting for people to judge something before they know the facts. How does Anita Clark know if Ted Kennedy was able to report the accident, or how far he walked, perhaps in a dazed condition?

The trouble with people today is that they see things as they want to see them and are so ready to condemn. The Kennedy boys were raised in a wealthy home, not spoiled, always strived for a better world, worked hard, and deserved to be respected. There is no family in the world that has suffered more heartaches than the Kennedy family. I know they would gladly give up all their wealth for the lives of their three sons and daughter.

Let's let their only son alone, and pray that God will protect him. He knows as we know that his life and the lives of his family are always in danger, not a nice feeling to live with, I'm sure.

I'm a Republican, but come on, Ted! Run for president! I'll vote for you!

No Surprise

Lincoln, Neb.

The public is indebted to members of the press for digging out numerous facts concerning recent events in Massachusetts which, regrettably, Senator Edward Kennedy avoided explaining.

And I feel that I am one of many who expected him to plead guilty to "negligence" in the court hearing, feeling certain that any sentence would be suspended.

Which, in effect, means that despite the fact that he caused the death of the girl, he does not have to suffer any legal consequences. considering the recent history of Massachusetts politics, I am not surprised that the people of that state believe "a Kennedy can do no wrong."

I can only express the fervent wish—heaven save America from that man!

In The Army Now

Lincoln, Neb.

This poem was written by our daughter to our son who is a private in the Army and now taking his basic in Ft. Lewis, Washington; written by Mrs. Bruce Hoffman for Pvt. Gary W. Giebelhaus:

How does it feel to get up at five
And work until time for chow?
How does it feel to be a 'baldy'?
You're in the Army now!

How does it feel to run a mile every day
And let the sweat run down your brow?
How does it feel to wear old clodhoppers?
You're in the Army now!

How does it feel to go to church on Sunday?
I knew they'd get you there sometime, somehow.
How does it feel to pull KP?
You're in the Army now!

How does it feel to be dogged at night?
I suppose it's sickening, miserable as well.
I'm sure to you and your buddies out there
It's like a living hell!

But try to look at it another way.
I know it's hard to do and easy to say . . .

How does it feel to be one of those guys
Who is someone terrific in America's eyes?
How does it feel to get a letter every day
To let you know we're proud of you in every way?
And how does it feel to know you're helping your country, somehow?
Yes, old buddy, you're in the Army now!

One-Way Green Lights

Lincoln, Neb.

It is often emphasized in this troubled world how important cooperation is among the nations. Cooperation means logically reciprocity.

The practice, however, is often another thing. We read that the Russian ambassador, Mr. Dobrynin, was invited to Cape Kennedy on the occasion of the Apollo 11 launching. However, there was another picture in Russia, with our astronaut, Frank Borman. Visiting the Russian launching site was not arranged for him. Why? Parties with caviar and vodka are not a substitute.

Recently four Russian scientists visited the University of Nebraska, their objective to promote cooperation. In light of recent events, would not it be better if they repeated this wish to their bosses in the Kremlin?

One-way green lights for the free world can be as disastrous as Yalta in postwar politics.

Questions

Lincoln, Neb.

As to Senator Kennedy's accident, we should all wait to hear the whole story — and that's what we are doing—waiting.

Senator Kennedy was in shock. What about all the other men? Who were they? Are they in public office? Are they married or single? If married, were all their wives sick and unable to attend the party? Could all permit Senator Kennedy while in shock to swim the channel that dark night and not check by phone to see if he made it?

Is legal responsibility more important than personal concern for the senator's life—and concern for the girl's body that had not been recovered from its watery grave—all those hours?

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

When July draws to a close, I think of summer coming to an end and a transition toward autumn taking place. Oh, there will be a number of hot swimming-pool days left and vacationers will be coming and going, but back-to-school days also come to the forefront.

Fall plowing is taking place and the fields of corn are tasseling. Morning glories burst open in the early cool hours of the day and twine around the corn plants. Spring chickens are no longer springs . . . at least those that are lucky enough to escape the deep freezers on the farms. The cockerels are lusty crowing roosters now and strut about the farmyards with a dignity all of their own.

The little calves that wobbled about on untried legs only a few short months ago are husky and bold, butting head to head as they attempt to show their strength. The kittens that sunned in the barn this spring are now young cats, strutting mysteriously about the farmyard in search of an unwary bird.

Fresh tomatoes and cucumbers from the garden are extra lush this season because of the moist growing conditions. The Golden Jubilee tomatoes that I started from seed are a bit later. I am anxious for them to mature as they are of a milder flavor.

The squash that I planted at the end of the garden are leap-frogging over the tomatoes. I had intended to train the vines to go in the other direction at the time I planted them but was away from home and did not get it done. Now I have small squash developing deep within the tomato vines.

We picked green apples last night from a tree that was heavily loaded with fruit last summer. I was surprised to find fruit on the tree this year. There was only half a bushel scattered about the lower limbs so picking apples did not pose a problem. Tomorrow I plan to bake a couple of pies.

As The Farmer says, "The first pie serves as a sample for the second pie." He has never turned down the sample pie. It always seems to satisfy his taste.

Picturesque portraits I would like to frame for the keeping:

Big shade trees holding hands over the roadway.

A wild grape vine curling in and out and round about through the pasture fence with only the song of a wild bird to keep it company.

Gaily colored hollyhocks dancing a minuet by the dooryard as the wind makes music.

Neatly clipped lawns dotted with brightly colored lawn chairs inviting neighbors to come and sit a spell.

Small boys edging a fishing pond, with big dreams dangling with every worm.

Squeamish little girls nearby who wouldn't be caught dead looking cross-eyed at the worms.

A ribbon of highway dotted with fast-moving cars traveling to vacation resorts.

This armchair tourist so glad to be home where the comforts of living suit my fancy.

Pakistan Represents Big U.S. Dollar Loss

WASHINGTON — Pakistan, which President Nixon is scheduled to visit today, illustrates what happens when you bet your chips on one man or one group of men.

The same thing happened in Pakistan that happened in Peru, where the United States bet on the Peruvian military only to have them turn against us. The same thing could also happen to the Gretk military junta.

Early in the Eisenhower administration, John Foster Dulles decided that President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan was the man to rely on. The son of an old Indian bugler, Ayub had trained at Sandhurst, the British West Point and was thoroughly Anglicized. Dulles decided that Ayub, with his charm and his pro-Anglo-American policy, would be much more reliable than the larger, unwieldy democracy of India.

Accordingly, the United States concentrated on making a friend of Ayub.

In return, we expected Pakistan to be a bulwark south of the Himalaya Mountains against Russian — and particularly Chinese — penetration of Middle Asia.

Instead, Pakistan and India got into the inevitable hassle, and when the United States objected to Pakistan's using America-supplied tanks against India, all the good will we had generated with candlelight suppers and billions of dollars of arms went up in smoke.

Shortly thereafter, China began wooing Pakistan; and Pakistan was quite willing to be wooed. Eventually, President Ayub was kicked out by a military junta which was far more dictatorial than his administration. There have been public hangings every day, and Pakistan is in the grip of pro-Chinese propaganda. She has given China air bases with which China has been able to penetrate East Africa; and China is now building two roads to Pakistan, one from Sinkiang province through Ledock, the other from Tibet via Kashmir.

Just before Nixon's visit, China went all-out to make sure that Pakistan would not desert the Chinese cause. A gala reception for the Pakistan "friendship delegation" was held in Peking, at which time Premier Chou En-lai denounced all plans for selective security in Asia, including those by Russia as well as the United States.

"The so-called system of collective security in Asia is a new step taken by social imperialism," Chou said, "in its intensified efforts to rig up a new anti-Chinese military alliance."

JAMES RESTON

Harriman, Kissinger Disagree On Vietnam; Domestic Politics Versus Military Strategy

NEW YORK — The military talk now coming out of Saigon is beginning to change. At least the words are different. Instead of a strategy of "search and destroy" or "maximum military pressure" on the enemy, U.S. headquarters is now talking about "reducing the violence" and a strategy of "protective reaction."

Maybe this is meaningless, but changes in language usually precede changes in policy, and there is some reason for believing that President Nixon's visit to Vietnam may be the beginning of a significant move toward what may be called the "Harriman strategy" for ending the war.

Averell Harriman, who was in charge of the Vietnam peace talks under the Johnson administration, has recently been talking to President Nixon's White House foreign policy adviser, Henry Kissinger, who used to work for Harriman. They have not agreed about U.S. Vietnam policy in these talks. Ambassador Harriman has felt that Dr. Kissinger gave far too much weight to the views of the Saigon government on how to conduct and end the war, but Harriman's views have been getting to the President, through Kissinger, who will go to the Paris Vietnam talks after Nixon's visit to Vietnam.

Accordingly, it is interesting to report a conversation with Ambassador Harriman. He believes the Nixon administration has been following a wrong, misleading, and dangerous military and diplomatic strategy in Saigon and Paris. He thinks the President has been applying "maximum miliatry pressure" on the enemy in order to expand control over more Vietnamese territory, and has also been trying to build up and extend the authority of the Saigon government — both as a means of improving the Washington-Saigon negotiating position in Paris.

Harriman's thesis is that this may be good domestic politics but is bad military and diplomatic strategy. He has been negotiating with the communists ever since he was the American ambassador in Moscow in 1943-46, and he has been arguing to Kissinger and others that the U.S. will never make any progress in the Paris Vietnam peace talks until it (1) accepts the present military and political status quo; and (2) thus indicates to Hanoi and the Viet Cong that it is not trying to improve the military and political power of the Saigon government.

Until this is done, Harriman argues, there will be no serious negotiations in Paris. Hanoi will stall and Washington will find itself in an increasingly difficult position. For as the ambassador sees it, the Nixon administration is trying to give the impression that it has made very generous offers to the enemy which have been rejected, and in his view, this has created a dangerous situation.

In Hanoi it has increased the determination to continue the fighting rather than see the military and political power of the Saigon regime increased.

Harriman is against this trend toward cut-and-run. He thinks there is a sensible compromise, but it begins, he asserts by reducing the violence, and accepting the present military and political balance of power.

He wants to see the U.S. stop boasting about how many enemy we kill, and pretending that we have pacified 84 per cent of the country (when we get hit anywhere and anytime the enemy chooses), and devoting half our combat forces to extending our control over the countryside, and acting as if the Saigon government is representative of the people of South Vietnam when it isn't.

His argument to Kissinger was to accept the political and military realities and get on with the peace talks. Otherwise, he insisted, the last chance of avoiding either a humiliating withdrawal or an expansion of the war might be lost.

The new langauge out of U.S. military headquarters in Saigon, and President Nixon's emphasis on America's limited commitments in Asia indicate that the Harriman thesis is at least getting a serious hearing.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Preaching Won't Change Attitudes

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "My wife and I have four granddaughters between 15 and 21, who've been visiting us one at a time this summer. They confide in us and we love them dearly, but are shocked by two who said casually that they had smoked marijuana, and by one who is engaged and said she saw nothing wrong in premarital relations. Should we pass this information on to their parents?"

A. — Maybe what the girls told you was true, or maybe they just wanted to shock you. In any case I think you should keep this to yourselves and assume these young ladies know what they're doing. You'll only alienate them if you tattle, and they could always say they were kidding. We old-timers must adjust to the fact that enormous changes in attitudes and morals have taken place among young people the past decade. Grandparents can admonish descendants against things they consider evil, but they aren't going to change youthful attitudes by preaching or passing information on to their parents.

Q.—"Now that I'm 77 and retired I've had a lot of time to think. My contemplation of the past two years has led me to the conclusion that virtually all poverty, crime, and troubling conditions of the world stem from the fact that there is no relationship between the ability to support children and the ability to produce them. Think about this. If couples had only as many children as they really wanted and could afford to raise properly, there wouldn't be crowded slums, congested schools, crimes by neglected children, and families perpetuating themselves on welfare. Don't you agree the only really vital charities are those aimed at reducing births among the poor?"

A. — Many will agree with you, for it's quite true that nearly all the chaos, crime, and rioting going on these days stems from the gulf existing between those who have only as many as they can afford and those who have more than they can afford. Until recent years there hasn't been an effective way to limit procreation. But now that we have the pill and are opening the door to legal abortions, an era awaits in which increasing millions of poor people will be encouraged to ease their destitution by limiting the number of extra mouths they bring into being.

Q. — "I've just wasted a week of my life serving on jury duty. Why can't they use retired people exclusively for this work? It seems to me elders could do a much better job than younger people since they have all the time in the world and wouldn't be worrying about losing pay from their regular job."

A. — I asked a judge about this and he says a jury by its very nature should represent a cross-section of the population, rather than a special group. He said lawyers might reasonably object to an elder jury as old people are traditionally more conservative in their judgments — a quality which might not always be deemed favorable to defendants or plaintiffs.

CPPD Requests Work Proceed At Brownville

Consumers Public Power District Wednesday filed a motion with the Power Review Board for dismissal of former State Sen. Lester Anderson's request that work on the Brownville project be halted.

Anderson, formerly of Aurora and now of Lincoln, asked the review board last week to reconsider its earlier order authorizing CPPD to proceed with the project. He said CPPD led the board to believe costs would be $130 million but that CPPD now admits the cost will be $95 million higher.

Consumers General Manager D. W. Hill said Wednesday Anderson's "irresponsibile actions . . . are apparently inspired by a group of Lincoln contractors who had previously threatened Consumers with a lawsuit . . ."

The Lincoln contractors "attempted to pressure" Consumers into drastically reducing its work schedule at Brownville "in an effort to settle their own differences with the building trade unions in the Lincoln area," Hill said.

Lincoln trade unions struck major Lincoln construction projects for more than a month during wage disputes with employers.

"The issue was a cost plus fixed fee contract with a Denver construction company after Consumers was forced to remove the Fegles Construction Co. of Minneapolis from the project when they defaulted on the completion of the substructure contract," Hill said.

The Lincoln contractors' "scheme" would have resulted in a major delay on the project and "enormous financial penalties to the people of this state," he added.

The Brownville project is closer to the completion schedule and estimated budget than any other nuclear power plant in the nation, Hill said.

Listen To Sensational Sound!!!

Custom Sound Department Fourth Floor

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

London weather has been fine. The early morning galopers ride through Hyde Park.

At the famous Corner, Queen Boadicea whips her stone horses as she did long ago against Roman invaders.

A postal holdup grips the public. Not because of the crime but because one man held a shotgun. The rest were suitably armed with coshes (blackjacks). Pick handles and spray cans of ammonia.

But guns! What is the world coming to?

"We hope someone will come forward to give evidence," said the police stiffly.

☆ ☆ ☆

Guns are not carried by English police. (They are issued only in extreme emergency.)

In a kind of working agreement, criminals don't carry guns either.

There was a terrible dustup recently when a bank guard fired a .22 pistol at robbers who were prying open the back of the armored van.

The robbers cried indignantly: "He's got a gun!"

They immediately went away, refusing to have any business with such a breach of manners.

☆ ☆ ☆

In this tight little island, the 55 million people have arranged tight rules of conduct to keep from stepping on each others toes.

Break the rules and everybody panics. Believe me, somebody "comes forward" to give evidence. This is an interesting attitude. I can hardly wait to fink on some offender.)

Traffic is one way to play the game. You do not scream. Do not cry, "For the love of Mike gedddover on yer own side"

You simply point to the stop light and say coldly: "Signal." (The "you idiot" is silent but implied.)

☆ ☆ ☆

We drive on the left in England. The wheel is on the right. All our American reactions, our sense of distance from the curb, are wrong.

Rent car people hate to see me come. I misjudge the curb. Consequently I blow left-hand tires.

The other day my headlights stuck in the "on" position. All London went into a tizzy.

☆ ☆ ☆

Since I am spooky on the left-hand drive I managed to swing in front of a cab driver the other night. Didn't hit him but he had to bang on the brakes.

He immediately got out and began taking names of witnesses.

It was close to midnight on the King's Road. But witnesses "came forward." They seem to come out of the woodwork. The street was empty. They came out of the dark.

Now we have a letter from cabbie and insurance company. What he will sue for is beyond me.

I have a solicitor left over from a time I lived here. I gave him a rung and he said, "No doubt trying to make a settlement. I shouldn't worry about it."

Employes To Be Informed Of New Bargaining Rights

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff Wednesday said he will go into Nebraska communities throughout the state after the 1969 Legislature adjourns to inform government employes about their new bargaining rights.

Earlier this year, lawmakers enacted LB15, which permits governmental employes to organize and negotiate with public employers for wages, hours and other working conditions.

LB15 maintains the state's ban against strikes by governmental employes.

Carpenter disclosed his travel plans during brief debate which preceded action killing LB818, a bill which would have revised the hours which firemen work.

Firemen may now negotiate with cities over such issues, Carpenter noted.

The bill died, at Carpenter's suggestion, on a 23-3 vote.

DIAGNOSTIC CENTER GAINS INITIAL APPROVAL

Legislation creating a "Youth Diagnostic and Rehabilitation Center" for juvenile offenders cruised to 25-0 first round approval in the Nebraska Legislature Wednesday.

Without negative debate, Beatrice Sen. Fred Carstens secured approval to his amendment changing the originally proposed "Eastern Nebraska Boys Training School" to the Diagnostic Center.

The rider, Carstens said, eliminates any possibility the Legislature would be creating another Kearney Boys Training School, which became a controversial institution last year.

Under the adopted amendment, juvenile judges could send young offenders to the Diagnostic Center under the same circumstances they send them to Kearney.

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Boats can be as dangerous as cars if you do not know what you are doing. If you plan to take a boat to one of Nebraska's lakes or rivers, first learn the craft's capacity and do not overload it.

Make sure your craft contains life preservers for each passenger—life jackets are excellent for small children and non-swimmers.

Tell your passengers not to stand up or change seats in a small boat while it is under way. Never jump or dive from a moving boat.

Show respect for other boats, swimmers and fishermen by not moving too close to them. Never buzz a dock, wharf or anchored craft, and stay within easy range of shore on larger bodies of water.

If your boat overturns, stay with it. Few people are in good enough shape for a long swim in rough or cold water. Your best chances are that soon or later someone will pick you up.

If you have a boat, and even if you think you know how to hande it, get a safety booklet and study it. It could save your life.

When is the city going to pave Normal Blvd. from 62nd to 70th by Holmes Park? —Bumped, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: This project is not in the six year city capital improvements budget and unless an enterprising city councilman tries to get it placed in that budget, that stretch of road will remain graveled. Public Works Director Robert Obering says there are many other projects that need consideration and money prior to that particular one. However, consideration could be given by the city council and paving financed by either of two methods; city funds for the entire cost; or assessment of the cost to adjacent property owners through a paving district. In the latter case, the city would still pick up most of the cost, since public land fronts almost all of this stretch of road.

The digging was to install a sprinkler system and underground electric wiring lacing the park area. As one area is completed, it is covered to lessen what danger may be prevalent, Smith says, but the ditches have to remain uncovered for a short time while settling occurs in the trench.

Tentative Approval Given Bill Lifting Ban On Political Contributions

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Wednesday gave tentative approval to a bill which would lift the ban on political contributions by corporations—unless they are organized for non-profit purposes.

The measure, LB850, could put a number of non-profit organizations formed specifically for political purposes out of business.

Several senators were concerned that the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) could be rendered inoperative by the proposal.

Other special interest organizations, including business, agricultural and labor units, could likewise be hampered in supporting parties or candidates or promoting special issues or constitutional amendments.

Not Non-Profit

(COPE, according to one lawmaker familiar with Nebraska's corporatpon laws, is not organized as a non-profit corporation and apparently would not be prohibited from continuing its political activities.)

cttczcsg

LB850 was originally sponsored by Sen. John Knight of Lincoln in an effort to ease the ban on corporation contributions to permit them to participate in such broad "political" activities as Chamber of Commerce operations and special issue elections.

But the Government and Military Affairs Committee amended the measure to lift the ban on corporation contributions provided they fully disclose them. No contributions could be made within six days of the election.

"This will get these contributions above the table," Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said.

"Then people can make up their own minds as to why the contributions were made."

Corporations Contribute

Corporations and their officers now contribute to parties and candidates by subterfuge, Carpenter said, passing out the money through individuals.

Knight asked that the revised bill be amended to prohibit contributions by non-profit corporations and, after considerable debate, his proposal was accepted on a 20-15 vote.

LB850 then cleared its first floor hurdle on a 26-0 count.

Knight said his amendment would eliminate "front organizations . . . operating under some very fanciful titles" and "get the cards out on the table."

But Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln said he fears such a prohibition would merely "drive people underground."

Profit-making corporations would be accorded an advantage in making campaign contributions, Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln said.

"This is class legislation for campaigns," Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha argued.

And it could eventually "change this good, mixed balance" of social and occupational interests now represented in the Legislature, he warned.

"It could return this Legislature to one interest and one voice," Danner said.

A Child's Opinion

Never sell a child's brain short. He listens very carefully to adult conversations and the comments he has heard about Washington, D.C., would fill the Congressional Library.

Just to prove the point here is a story which appeared in the Parent-Teacher magazine. It is about a child who wrote a letter to God asking for $100. The letter reached the hands of the Postmaster General in Washington who sent the boy five dollars. He also was handed the boy's reply:

"Dear God, thanks for the money. But next time don't send it through Washington. They took 95 per cent."

Music Hath Its Charm

It often has been said that music hath charms to soothe the savage breast. Apparently John Bach, the basketball coach at Penn State, is an ardent believer in William Congreve's famous lines. According to an UPI story Mr. Bach plays recorded music during practice, on bus trips to and from games and even in the dressing room before the games.

The music ranges from Sousa marches to Soul music. The aim; to relax and put the players in the mood.

Fancy Wigs

BY MARILYN BENDER
(c) New York Times Service

New York — During the last few years the natural enemies in fashion's jungle have been milliners, hairdressers and wigmakers. In recent months, however, the broadest smiles have been worn by hatters who are dealing in hair.

Take for example Halston and Adolfo, those designers of hats who managed to triumph in an era when most women stopped wearing them. Their latest Coty awards were received for their full range of design activities, which encompass hats to pants suits. Now they also find themselves side by side in hair boutiques bearing their names in stores across the country.

Both milliners have styled short and fairly curly Dynel stretch wigs that come in 26 shades and are swept off the counters by eager women as if the stores were giving them away. They are carried away in pocketbooks, paper bags or small, cardboard boxes, thereby doing away with the need for that clumsy piece of luggage, the wig box.

The Adolfo wig sells for $25, Halston's for $30. Halston's hairdo is slightly longer than Adolfo's.

"Everybody's got $30 nowadays," Halston said the other day. "A good wig used to cost $250 to $300. Our secret is like cake mix. Everybody wants instant everything these days."

Wigs in the several-hundred-dollar brackets are made of European human hair and must be styled periodically just as if the strands were still attached to a living skull. The Halston and Adolfo Dynel wigs require no snipping or trimming, a convenience that pleases not only customers but also merchants who hate to have their floors littered with hair — human or otherwise.

Brushing the synthetic wigs can make them more curly or less. Customers at Bloomingdale's, for example, are told to wash the wigs in cold water suds and let them dry overnight. They can also be worn while swimming, but should not be brushed until dry, lest the curl be destroyed.

FOR MEN ONLY

Men will be back to normal, formally speaking this fall. Formal attire for the gentlemen never have been more with it. Although black is back as the favorite for evening, everything else reflects today's fresh approach to men's fashions.

The styles are varied and, of course, imaginative. There are fashions for the avant gardist, and fashions for the conservative, and each group of fashions for each taste will be sure to catch the eye.

For the avant gardist there is the six-button double breasted design that is very apt to steal the show. Jackets will be shaped this season, and the lapels are taking on more generous proportions. Then there are the fabrics — they, too, will add a note of individuality, and right out in front in popularity is velvet.

While it is true that black is the backbone of the fall and winter fashions for men, there also are formal separates that will brighten up any occasion. The shade for the separates are gold, silver, green, red and blue.

Color will make a big splash, also, in formal accessories — such as gold, mulberry or dark blue shirts to say nothing of the big, floppy, colorful bow ties with matching pocket squares.

Mrs. Nixon Oversleeps

BY HELEN THOMAS

Bangkok (UPI) — Mrs. Pat Nixon overslept Tuesday but, despite a late start, completed a tour of Thailand's capital that took her from its school for the blind to its snake pits. Queen Sirikit was her guide.

White House sources said Mrs. Nixon accompanied the President to South Vietnam, the first American First Lady to visit a combat zone since the late Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was in the South Pacific during World War II.

Mrs. Nixon blamed a faulty alarm clock at the Boromabiman Mansion for making her 40 minutes late Tuesday for the start of her tour of Bangkok, a trip by motor launch through its floating market. She said she dressed in 10 minutes after oversleeping, and her yellow outfit contrasted sharply with the Queen's pink sarong and jacket.

Since Tuesday was a Buddhist holiday, the market was not alive with its usual activity. In addition, Thai police had cleared the main waterway of the picturesque, bobbing boats and armed guards lined the channel through which her launch and accompanying vessels passed.

"There were too many of us, and those poor little boats were pushed aside," said Mrs. Nixon afterward. But she was delighted by the large number of children lining the canal and waving little American and Thai flags as she passed.

Afterward, Queen Sirikit guided Mrs. Nixon through the Chulalongkorn Hospital, a school for the blind founded by an American, and the city's snake pits where she watched king cobras being fed chunks of beef and milked of their venom.

"This is one thing I must say I haven't seen before," said Mrs. Nixon, at first recoiling but then fascinated by the snakes.

Tears welled in her eyes when a group of blind children sang "America" for her at the school, founded 30 years ago by Genevieve Caulfield, a native of Suffolk, Va. In response to 57-year-old First Lady's query, Miss Caulfield said she was 81 years old.

Mrs. Nixon and the Queen left the hospital in separate limousines, the First Lady joining Foreign Minister and Mrs. Thanom Kittikachorn at the country home for lunch.

News Of The Town Is 'Red Carpet' Variety

We're rolling out the red carpet this morning as a welcome to Miss Alison Elizabeth Gibbs who made her world debut on Saturday, July 26, at Lincoln General Hospital. The young lady's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gibbs and we hasten to add that she has an older sister, Caitlin. Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Lilly are the maternal grandparents, and Miss Alison's paternal grandfather is Cyrus Gibbs, also of Lincoln.

* * *

There is a second reason for the red carpet this morning — This time it is to welcome a potential and notable guest — a New York theatrical attorney, Donald C. Farber. Mr. Farber, a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he also received his degree and his doctorate in law, will be arriving Sunday for a brief visit. Although he is making Clayton House his headquarters, Mr. Farber will be visiting his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Farber, as well as numerous old friends.

We used the term 'notable' with reference to Mr. Farber — and he is. He has two books to his credit including his first, "From Option to Opening" which was widely hailed by professionals in Variety, Backstage, Show Business, Library Journal, After Dark, Theatre Crafts, and the New York Law Journal.

His second book is "Producing on Broadway". Mr. Farber's first book, "From Option to Opening", has been adopted for use as a text at Yale University and other colleges.

* * *

Back home again are Mr. and Mrs. Reon Pauley who spent last weekend in Kansas City, Mo., and Topeka, Kan. It was in Topeka last Sunday that they attended the christening of their young grandson, Ted Andrew Gartner, son of Dr. and Mrs. Reg Gartner and, of course the grandson of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gartner of Lincoln. The christening ceremony took place in the protestant chapel at Forbes Air Force Base.

If anyone has missed seeing Miss Donna Carrier around this summer we can tell you where she is. She is on the island of Kauai, Hawaii, where she is participating in the summer school program for high school students.

IN suburbia

Although we don't know how it got started it seems that the most popular phrase used to describe Nebraska weather during the month of August always has been the month of the "Dog Days." Of course, this description is referring to the very hot and very humid weather that is normally experienced in August by Lincoln residents. Well, we don't wish to make any predictions on what "Dog Days" month may hold in store for suburban residents — weather-wise — that is, but judging from past experience we know that activity can be as unpredictable as the weather. We do feel safe, however, in predicting that suburban areas will continue to be extremely busy during August. As we approach the last month of summer, the school set once again began preparing for another year of classes, last minute vacations are taken and out of town guests will continue to arrive. All of this adds up to anything but a dull month in suburbia.

Entertaining an out of town guest is on the social calendar for Mr. and Mrs. Irving Reiber during the second week of August. Arriving at their Eastborough home on Aug. 9 will be their niece Miss Rienee Kent of Hastings. Miss Kent will be accompanied to Lincoln by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kent who will return to Hastings later that day leaving Rienee to do a little visiting and, we understand, a little pre school shopping.

This has been a busy week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson. During the weekend they were host and hostess to Mrs. Johnson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knotek wro arrived from Carroll, Iowa, on Friday. While in Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. Knotek also visited with Mr. Knotek's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Knotek. The visitors returned to Carroll on Sunday.

Then on Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Johnson entertained at a dinner party at their home. The occasion was the arrival of Mr. Johnson's brother and sister-in-law and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Johnson and their daughter, Kristy of Scottsdale, Ariz.

Not all of our news though is of guests. We also have some news of plans that are being made for traveling. Miss Janet Bottum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bottum for instance, is planning a weeks vacation in New York City. Miss Bottum will leave her Eastridge home on Aug. 15th and will fly to New York City where she plans to take in some of the sights and hopefully to attend a Broadway play.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cramer and their three children, Lori, Randy, and Tom returned to their Meadow Lane home on Sunday, July 13, following a two-week vacation in California. While there they visited Disneyland and were given a tour of Metro-Goldyn-Mayer movie studios. The Cramers also were guests at the home of former Lincoln residents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grimes and their two children, Kathy and Karen in San Francisco.

Still one of the favorite ways to take a summer vacation is camping. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyers and their daughter Tracy, recently returned to their Happy Hollow Heights home following a week of camping in the Balck Hills of South Dakota. The Meyers threesome took advantage of the opportunity to visit Mt. Rushmore and also traveled down to Custer, S.D. to look at the monument that is being constructed in the image of Chief Crazy Horse.

Susan Ayres, Bride

With only the members of the family attending the ceremony, the marriage of Miss Susan Jane Ayres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Joyce Ayres, to Nicholas Norman Smeloff of Lincoln, son of Maj. and Mrs. Nicholas N. Smeloff of Manila, Philippine Islands, was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon, July 30, in the chapel of the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Dr. Robert E. Palmer read the lines of the 4 o'clock service.

Mrs. Joseph J. Harrington of Denver, Colo., the former Janie Thomason of Lincoln, was the matron of honor and only attendant. Her frock of yellow and white was in the daytime length, and she carried a nosegay of white daisies and wore a cluster of daisies in her hair.

Joseph W. Ayres, brother of the bride, served as best man.

The bride chose a frock of cotton faille for the ceremony. The side-buttoned sculptured bodice was designed with a military collar and Bishop sleeves which were cuffed at the wrists, and beneath a snugly fitted midriff the drndl skirt was fashioned in the daytime length. Her hair bandeau, ornamented with a center loop, matched the material of her frock, and she carried one Victorian rose encircled with ivy.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to Colorado, Mr. Smeloff and his bride will be at home at 2335 B St.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Alpha Phi sorority, and received her Master's degree from Syracuse University in Syracuse, N.Y.

Mr. Smeloff is a graduate of the RCA Institute in New York City and now is attending the University of Nebraska. He served four years with the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service during which time he was a television instructor and director. He now is television director for the Nebraska Educational Television Network where he produces and directs programs for Nebraska secondary schools and colleges.

Bride-Elect Is Incentive For Party

Another of the August brides-elect, Miss Pam Glaser whose marriage to Robert Wistrand will be solemnized on Aug. 29, was the incentive for an informal evening and miscellaneous shower when Miss Mary Schneider and Miss Nancy Zieg were hostesses on Tuesday. The party was held in one of the parlors at the University Lutheran Chapel on the University of Nebraska campus.

Abby: tell him to turn in checkbook

DEAR ABBY: My 47-year-old husband of 25 years is a living doll, but he is driving me to distraction with his check writing!

We have a joint checking account, but I have learned from experience that I don't dare write a check for even two dollars because it might bounce.

My husband writes checks like crazy without listing them, so consequently we never know how much we have in our account.

When we were first married our checking account got into such a mess that we closed that account and opened up a new one in another bank. Pretty soon we were all messed up again, and had to close that account. Well, we are on our FIFTH bank now, and it looks like we're going to have to find a new bank again.

What's the solution, Abby?

My husband is really a sweet guy, but when it comes to writing checks, he's a big jerk.

JUDY

DEAR JUDY: Insist that your checkmate turn in his checkbook. If he refuses, face it, you're married to a "living doll' who is really a sweet guy, but when it comes to writing checks, he's a big jerk."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	3 NT

Opening lead — five of hearts.

A reader would like to know what went wrong with the defense in this hand where South bid and made three notrump.

East won the heart lead with the ace and continued with the Q-J. West overtook the jack with the king to make sure of scoring his ten, since from his viewpoint East might have had the A-Q-J alone. However, when he cashed the ten, East followed with the nine.

West had no way of knowing that a diamond shift at this point would defeat the contract. Instead he returned a club, the suit East had bid. This play proved fatal because declarer won East's king with the ace and made the rest of the tricks on a squeeze. After South had cashed four spade tricks, this became the position:

North
♠ 7
♦ 9 8
♣ 9

West Immaterial

East
♠ A
♣ 10 8 5

South
♦ K
♣ Q J 6

When dummy led the seven of spades, East could not discard successfully and South made three notrump.

It seems only fair to say that East was primarily at fault. He missed an important clue. When he cashed the queen of hearts at trick two and declarer followed low, West played the eight — a highly significant card.

There was only one holding with which West would play the eight, namely, from an original holding of the K-10-8-5. East should have realized that to continue with the jack would court the danger of West's overtaking with the king and leave West with a problem of which suit to return after cashing the ten.

To prevent West from going wrong, East should have cashed the ace of diamonds at trick three before leading the jack of hearts.

County To Discuss Nursing Home Management

Future operation of the Lancaster County Convalescent Unit will be discussed with county officials soon, Lincoln General Hospital board president J. Herb Hopkins told the trustees Wednesday.

The entrance of the county into the nursing home business with the purchase of the old St. Elizabeth Hospital buildings "constitutes a major change in the county's policy," Hopkins said.

If the county contracts with a nursing home operator to run the nursing home, the operator could also take over the administration, staffing and record-keeping of the convalescent unit, he indicated.

Lincoln General Hospital has operated the unit since it was constructed about four years ago.

Hopkins noted that Lincoln General is faced with increasing work loads and that the transfer of records when patients are taken from the unit to the county nursing home creates "practical problems."

Hospital representatives also need to discuss the arrangements made with St. Elizabeth officials about Lincoln General use of the old St. Elizabeth nurses' dormitories next year. Hopkins said that there has been talk of using the dormitories as a replacement for the juvenile detention home now located at Westview.

Lincoln General administrator Robert Brungard announced the razing of the old building has been rescheduled to begin Sept. 2.

Bids for demolition of the old building and related work, including construction of a parking lot on the site, will be opened Aug. 12, Brungard reported.

The new employes parking lot is slated to accommodate some 130 automobiles.

In addition to demolition, the bid specifications called for land fill, reconstruction of the east wall of the remaining foundation building, closing of the elevator shaft with panels that can be removed at a later date, roofing the basement of the west wing which will be used for storage and other necessary electrical and mechanical modifications.

All work is expected to be completed within 150 days after the contract is awarded, the board was told.

Brungard reported that the contents of the old building, sold during two days at auction, raised $22,900 which will be used to defer part of the estimated $75,000 demolition and construction costs.

In other business:

—Brungard reported that the average daily census of the hospital had jumped from 133 patients per day to 180 during the two-year period since the new hospital opened.

—Dr. Russell Gorthey reported the hospital has had its highest number of baby deliveries during the month of July than recorded during any month of the past five or six years.

County Budget Attracts Little Attention

Lancaster County's $9.9 million budget for the 1969-70 fiscal year, up more than $1 million from last year, drew comments from only one person during a public hearing on the budget Wednesday evening.

The proposed budget would require a tax levy of 13.984 mills, slightly more than three mills higher than that for the present fiscal year.

Appearing before the county commissioners was Joe R. Seacrest, representing the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, who spoke out favorably about the county's proposed road construction program.

Highway Engineer Walter Hoppe said Wednesday the road program, accounting for 1½ mills out of tax funds, "would keep the county up-to-date on it's 10-year road construction program.

Hoppe has requested $827,000 for road projects, part of which will be paid out of non-tax funds. He has also asked that $200,000 be transferred out of the inheritance tax fund to permit two more projects.

Seacrest urged the county not to make any cuts from the proposed road construction program.

He also urged county officials to give serious attention to cooperating with the city on a truck route bypass system around Lincoln.

Seacrest also requested the board to explore all possible means to come up with funds for paving work on 9th and 10th Sts. by the County-City Building.

Harlan said that the commissioners have requested County Atty. Paul Douglas to investigate whether the county would be able to pay part of the costs.

Bellevue Span Bills Advanced

Two bills allowing the city of Bellevue to acquire a toll bridge connecting the city with Iowa were advanced by the Unicameral Wednesday after a lengthy and heated debate between two lawmakers.

The bills were sponsored by State Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha and opposed by State Sen. Orval Keyes of Papillion.

Keyes, who represents the community, said the local residents didn't want to purchase the Missouri river span.

"Seventy-five per cent of the people could care less if the bridge fell in the river," he said.

Proud said city officials had told him the public supported the purchase on grounds local business would be improved by removal of the toll now charged. A bridge authority now owns the financially troubled span.

State Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln proposed to settle the dispute between the two lawmakers by moving the bridge to his district.

He said it could be put between the capitol and the new state office building in lieu of a proposed pedestrian tunnel which the Legislature rejected last week.

Eminent Domain Powers Study Proposal Made

A between-session study of the eminent domain powers held and exercised by governmental subdivisions and agencies in Nebraska was proposed in the Legislature Wednesday.

Sen. Claire W. Holmquist of Oakland sponsored the resolution, No. 76. It was referred to the Legislative Council Executive Board for recommendation.

The resolution noted that condemnation powers have been granted to assorted agencies and subdivisions of government and "it would be beneficial to the Legislature to review the existing grants of authority . . ."

Coffee like your mother used to make...remember? Coffee with an aroma so rich and warm and wonderful you could hardly wait to be grown-up enough to taste it. And when that day arrived, you knew you had, too. Mama's secret was good old-fashioned ground coffee ...slow-brewed. Mama said coffee had to be brewed, for heaven's sake. Mama didn't mess around with Instants.

Now there's a new kind of quick coffee, though, that has the Mama Seal of Approval. Butter-Nut® Freeze Dried Coffee Nuggets. Real coffee—the good old ground kind. We slow-brew it, like Mama used to do. But then we freeze-dry it, to freeze in the freshness and flavor. Result? Coffee as good as the coffee your mother made...because that's the way we make it. All you do is add water.

Mama loves it. And Mama's always right.

Soaring Cost Of Living Said Showing Signs Of Slowdown

Washington (AP) — The climb in wholesale prices slowed dramatically this month, rising only one-tenth of one per cent and offering at least some distant hope of a slowdown in soaring living costs, the government said Wednesday.

"You have to be careful about placing too much significance in one month's figures, but it does seem to be fairly significant," said Assistant Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Most hopeful note for most Americans was a drop of seven-tenths of one per cent in wholesale prices of farm products, including a downturn in the recent sharp climb of cattle prices.

But Chase cautioned it could be several months before this might be translated into more stable beef prices at the supermarket.

"It seems that livestock and meat prices did have to reach a peak some time, and they apparently have. This is especially true of cattle," Chase said. But pork prices continued higher and processed foods and feeds, including meat, poultry and fish, rose four-tenths of one per cent.

The preliminary report on July prices, if later confirmed by more complete figures, would be the smallest rise in the wholesale price index in nine months.

The one-tenth of one per cent rise would be about a third the average monthly rise of more than three-tenths over the past year.

The increase brought the wholesale price index, measuring food and a broad range of industrial raw materials, to 113.3. This means that $100 worth of wholesale goods in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based now costs an average of $113.30.

Industrial commodities averaged two-tenths of one per cent higher, a considerably slower rise than earlier this year, but "This still leaves something to be desired," Chase said.

30 Indicted In Mail Fraud

Washington (AP)— Postal inspectors began rounding up 30 persons Wednesday as a result of federal mail fraud indictments in the Chicago area, Postmaster Winton M. Blount announced.

Blount said the 30 were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury on charges of conducting a widespread scheme to illegally use credit cards issued by five major Chicago banks.

Among those indicted, Blount said, were 16 retail store merchants, three gasoline station operators and a Chicago postal employe.

He said the scheme resulted in the loss of millions of dollars to the banks.

Blount said the indictments and arrests came in a two-and-a-half year investigation by a force of postal inspectors and the staff of U.S. Attorney Thomas A. Foran.

Training Plan For Retarded OKd

Counties, school districts and the state would join hands in financing the training and education of mentally retarded children at the school district or Educational Service Unit level under a bill passed in the Legislature Wednesday.

A 35-0 final reading vote sent to the governor for signature into law LB172, sponsored by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter and Omaha Sens. Bill K. Bloom, Eugene T. Mahoney and William R. Skarda Jr.

LB172 authorizes school districts and ESU's to provide education and training for all trainable mentally retarded children ages 5 to 21 who live in the district or unit.

To finance the programs, the school district would pay an amount equal to the regular per pupil cost in the district, for each mentally retarded child involved. The county and state each would contribute $400 per pupil per year, and the ESU would pay any cost remaining.

Additionally, LB172 provides that the school district pay up to $200 per year to parents or guardians for mileage when trainable mentally retarded children are forced to leave the school district because of a lack of education and training services in the district.

Provisions of LB172 will take effect with the 1970-71 school year.

The bill was the only measure up for final reading Wednesday.

PIN-WORMS
AND NOT KNOW IT
Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.
To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:
First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.
Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Bill Advanced Giving State Property That's Abandoned

Bank deposits — or any other property — which the owner has abandoned for seven years or more would be turned over to the state under a "uniform disposition of unclaimed property act" to which the Legislature gave first round floor approval Wednesday.

The bill involved, LB642, was advanced from general file 24-0. Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice sponsored the bill, based on a model advocated by the American Bar Association.

The act would apply only to deposits or property worth $50 or more. The owner, should he turn up, could reclaim the money or property at any time.

Carstens estimated the state might fall heir to $5 million as a result of the bill. He termed it "probably the first bill introduced which will bring money into the state."

Property covered by the act could include such items as valuables in safety deposit boxes, checking accounts, time deposits, savings accounts and various deposits which utilities sometimes require.

Russian Vessel Fights Pollution

Moscow (AP) — A Russian-built ship can collect up to seven tons of spilled petroleum from the sea surface in an hour, the Soviet news agency Tass says. The government plans to build several of the vessels to fight ocean pollution, Tass added.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. If is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Grand Island — Christie Schwartzkopf, a 20-year-old University of Nebraska senior, led the young people's march through the first round of the Nebraska State Ladies Golf Tournament Wednesday at the Riverside Country Club here.

Shooting a three-under-par 76, Christie was one of four youngsters to move into the quarterfinals, joining 17-year-old Nancy Kirsch of South Sioux City, 16-year-old Cindy Friend of Hastings and 18-year-old Kathy Waters of Omaha.

The 76 was Christie's best round since a similar score in the 1965 tourney at Lincoln's Hillcrest Country Club where she lost in the finals to mother, Dorothy. It also tied the Riverside Country Club course record, set by her mother in Monday's pro-am.

"Everything was just working together," she explained after defeating B. Jo Stiner of Lincoln, 8-6, in the match play tourney. "I think I have the shots, but you have to put everything together to score well."

Although the match ended at the 12th hole, the two continued through the 18th. "I wanted to prove to myself that I could play a good round," Christie explained.

She birdied the 390-yard, par five eighth, getting down in two from the fringe, the 370-yard par five ninth, with a four-foot putt, the 375-yard par five 11th, with a 10-footer, the 400-yard, par five 15th with a three-footer and the 285-yard, par four 17th with a six-footer.

Nancy Kirsch, a senior at Emerson Sacred Heart high school, was three over par when her match with Betty Marchese of Omaha ended at the 13th hole, Nancy a 7-5 victor.

Nancy, admittedly nervous going against the former champion in only her second tournament, won the first three holes and was five-up at the turn.

"I got over being nervous then," she said with a grin. "But I was plenty nervous when we started."

Nancy, who won the state junior title at Fremont two weeks ago in her first tournament appearance, qualified Tuesday with a 91 and also was in the 90's in Monday's pro-am.

"I knew I had to play well," she said in explaining the difference between the 90s and a score of three over par Wednesday. "Monday and Tuesday I was just playing, but when the tournament started today, I knew I had to do it."

Cindy Friend moved into the quarterfinals with a 1-up victory over Mrs. Roy Carter of Millard and Kathy Waters, the Omaha city champion, won by a 4-2 margin over Bobbie Hopp of Hastings.

The four youngsters will all be going against veterans in today's quarterfinal matches with Cindy meeting four-time champion Mrs. Schwartzkopf, Kathy going against defending champion Jean Hyland of Lincoln, Nancy meeting Betty Abel of Lincoln and Christie taking on Mary Jo Cicmanec of Ord.

Mrs. Hyland, shooting a one-over-par 42 on the front side, won the 8th and 9th holes with a birdie and a bogey, respectively, to go two-up at the turn in her match with Joan Martig of Omaha.

Then after losing the 10th with a bogey, Jean accepted gifts from Joan at the 11th, 13th and 14th, all three of which were bogeyed by Miss Martig, to take a 3-2 triumph.

In the other championship flight matches Mrs. Swartzkopf defeated Lou Vermaas of Lincoln, 6-4, Betty Abel defeated Bunnie Phillips of Norfolk, 3-2, and Mary Jo Cicmanec whipped Dottie Bowman, of Kearney, 4-3.

Dave King Breaks Arm In Pileup

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Second-leading jockey Dave King apparently will be out for the rest of the season after suffering a broken right arm in a three-horse pileup which marred Wednesday's racing at the State Fairgrounds.

The spill, which occurred during the second race, was the fourth such pileup of the accident-plagued meeting.

Apprentice jockeys Roy Ray and Gary Birzer were also injured in the pileup, but apparently not seriously.

Ray suffered bruises and a cut over his right eye, according to a spokesman at Lincoln General Hospital where the injured riders were taken. Ray is expected to be back in action, perhaps by Friday.

Birzer's injury was diagnosed as a cracked spinal vertebra, which is not expected to keep him out of action more than about five or six days.

A hospital spokesman said King's arm would be operated on today and he would likely be out of action for five or six months.

The accident occurred when King's mount Traffic Jo stumbled and fell on the far turn during the first lap of the mile and 70-yard chase. Federal Pride, ridden by Ray, and Our Parade, ridden by Birzer, went over Traffic Jo and also fell.

Our Parade, suffering a back injury, lay on the track as the other horses came around on the final lap of the race. The fallen jockeys, with some help, managed to get out of the way.

It was not known Wednesday whether the injured Our Parade, owned by Lincolnites H. B. Moran and J. H. Bridger, would have to be destroyed.

The second race was won by Nertita's Sis, who joined first-race winner Long Ann for a $26 daily double on numbers 1 and 3.

The third race produced by far the longest win payoff of the current meeting as Nickel Time, a two-year-old filly making her first start, won a narrow decision over Spring Swing and Miss May J., the latter also a first-starter.

Ridden by apprentice jockey Dennis Boxter, a double winner, Nickel Time returned a whopping $104.80, $40.60 and $11.20. The previous high win payoff was the $71.80 returned last Thursday on Sweet Erma, another first starter.

Me Go covered one mile in a swift 1:40 2-5 to win the fifth race and Linda's Doc sped six furlongs in 1:12 3-5 to whip Gassed Up and Solarswhirl in the featured seventh race.

Linda's Doc, owned by Ed Sunberg and trained by R. E. Lee, opened up a wide early lead and won by two and one-half lengths under jockey Jack Radford,a substitute for the injured King.

Celts' Russell Quitting Game

. . . AUERBACH WON'T GIVE UP

Boston (AP) — General Manager Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics announced Wednesday that player-coach Bill Russell plans to retire after leading the club to 11 championships in 13 National Basketball Association years as a defensive wizard.

"Russell believes he has retired, but I have not given up hope," Auerbach told a news conference. "I hope to convince him to play one more year.

"I will not consider him retired until he does not show up for the first day of practice."

Auerbach, who turned over the coaching reins to Russell after the 1966 season, said he talked with Russell all day Tuesday and had dinner with him in the evening.

Auerbach said he knew nothing about Russell's plans when it was reported in June that the 35-year-old veteran planned to retire.

Russell, plagued by arthritic knees the past few seasons, would be stepping down with one year remaining on a contract calling for more than $200,000 per season.

BILL RUSSELL

Never a high scorer, Russell revolutionized professional basketball after he led the University of San Francisco to 59 straight victories and two straight NCAA championships as he earned All-American honors for two straight years.

Priscilla Finally Needs Black Ink For Her Figuring

A lot of folks thought your old Aunt Priscilla would never make a comeback, but I guess we showed them.

Good old Me Go gave me a $6 winner in the fifth race and I almost had a better one in the sixth race where Dancin Blaze, at 5-1, ran second.

Priscilla

This puts my spree fund above the $100 starting point for the first time this season. These big numbers scare me but the kitty now rests at a $101.40.

Today I'll try $2 to win on Mike in the fifth and Almemar in the eighth.

Lincoln's Legion Clubs Begin Playoffs

By VIRGIL PARKER

Lincoln's five junior American Legion baseball teams will be joined by Beatrice for the Area 4 tournament opening at Sherman Field Friday. The winner will advance to the state playoffs at North Platte beginning Aug. 8.

Northeast High, under the Optimist Club banner, won the title last summer. Now playing with Aamco as its sponsor and new coach Al Furby at the helm, the Rocket club is regarded as the team to beat by the other managers, despite a mediocre 11-11 record for the year.

"We've been coming on pretty strong lately," Furby, this spring's University of Nebraska pitching ace, admitted, "but nobody can be counted out. Though we've won six of our last seven and ended our season with a convincing 10-3 win over Hastings Monday night, that loss came to First National which is a much better club than their record indicates."

First National manager Denny Beckman agrees. "We were only 7-15 on the season," he said, "but a month ago we made some rather drastic switches in our infield and it really strengthened us defensively. Once that improvement came the boys started hitting better too."

Gerry's won the Cornhusker League's eastern divisional title with a 10-4 conference mark and had an overall 12-5 record. Coach Bill Honner hopes his club can keep the upper hand with a strong pitching staff headed by Jay Weyers, Nick Fras and John Amend.

"We also had only four league losses," NBC team boss Rudy Stoehr pointed out "but we had a couple of rainouts and so our 8-4 record counted only for second place in the league, but I'm really pleased with the progress we've made this year."

Stoehr's club, comprised of East High players, was 20-9 on the season after a 9-14 record a year ago.

His young club opens against Witts, coached by Big Red footballer Dana Stephenson. "They've probably got the best pitcher in the state in Gary Walker," Stoehr says, "so there isn't anyone you can look past in this meet."

Stoehr will open with either Mark Mitchell or Barry Blue on the mound and looks to Kent Mahoney, Jeff Patterson, Jeff Gade and Scott Levey, who are all hitting over .300, to lead the way at the plate.

The tourney opens at 5:30 Friday when Aamco tangles with Beatrice. Furby will choose between Jim Starita and Rick Sittner for mound duty.

"We've got two players hitting over .400," Furby noted. "Maury Damkroger ended the regular season at .429, and I think that's amazing. And Jim Smith has really been banging the ball too. He had a .406 average for the year.

"Lincoln High (Gerry's) beat out these kids for the right to go to the state high school championships," Furby said, "so this tournament ought to be a real battle."

After the two opening games Friday, the tourney picks up Saturday with the first-day losers playing at 3 p.m. Then First National plays the Aamco-Beatrice winner at 5:30, with Gerry's taking on the Witts-NBC winner at 8.

"I think we might surprise somebody before it's over," First National manager Beckman said. "Bob Schemmel struck out 14 in beating Aamco the other night and both he and Bob Martens are hitting the ball real well."

Gerry's has "been in a real slump at the plate lately," according to Honner. "We won eight in a row in the middle of the season," he remembers. "I just hope we can get our hitting clothes on again now that tournament time is here."

Mike Shea and Dave Carlson have been his most consistent performers at the plate, Honner says.

The double elimination tourney will continue with daily play through next Tuesday, with a six team midget Legion meet being conducted at the same time.

The midgets will start on Saturday, with daytime games through Tuesday, at which time a champion will be crowned to advance to the state meet starting in Ralston, Aug. 9.

Mustangs Lose Bevan With Broken Hand

Omaha (UPI) — Defensive back Bill Bevan of Minnesota will be lost to the Omaha Mustangs for two weeks because of a broken left hand, coach Don Fleming said Wednesday.

The injury occurred Tuesday during a scrimmage.

Wide receiver Marvin Johnson of Northern Iowa was dropped from the rookie roster Tuesday.

McNally Triumph Matches AL Mark

. . . 17TH IN A ROW

By Associated Press

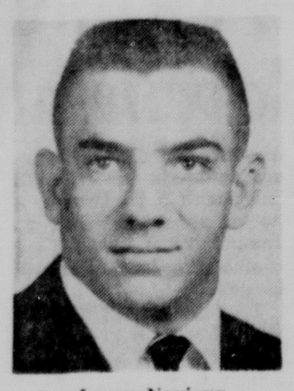
Dave McNally tied an American League consecutive victory pitching record Wednesday night, spotting Kansas City a two-run lead in the first inning and then got ninth inning relief help in blanking the Royals the rest of the way for a 4-2 Baltimore victory.

It was McNally's 15th straight triumph this season and 17th victory in a row dating back to last September.

He matched the longest league winning streak, over two seasons, hung up in 1936-37 by Johnny Allen of Cleveland. The National League record for consecutive victories is 24 by Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants, also in 1936-37.

In other American League action Wednesday, the Chicago White Sox dumped Cleveland, 11-6, while New York was at Oakland, Detroit at Minnesota, Washington at Seattle and Boston at California in late games.

In the National League, Houston swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets, blasting the Mets, 16-3 and 11-5. Atlanta and Philadelphia split a pair, the Braves winning the first game, 6-3, and the Phils taking the second, 4-3. Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles, 4-2, while Cincinnati topped Montreal, 5-3, San Francisco dropped Chicago, 6-3, and St. Louis defeated San Diego, 5-2.



Larry Naviaux

Nebraskan New Boston Head Coach

Boston (AP) — Boston University named football coach Warren Schmakel assistant director of athletics and promoted assistant coach Larry Naviaux to succeed Schmakel as head coach, Tuesday.

Naviaux, a Lexington native and three-year Nebraska football letterman (1956-58), has served as Schmakel's top assistant for the past five years.

Schmakel was an assistant at Nebraska during the 1957-59 seasons. He left following the 1959 season to take a position at Rutgers and was named head coach at Boston University in 1965. His teams have compiled a 20-24-2 record.

Schnell

He hopes to team with 32 other fine football players to keep that winning tradition going as a member of the South team in the Shrine Bowl all-star football game at NU's Memorial Stadium Aug. 23.

Schnell, a hard running 6-0, 180-pound back, will be wearing No. 40 when playing in the backfield for coach Roland Carter's Rebel team.

STEVE RUNTY

Chosen the most valuable player from the tough Southwest conference, Ogallala's Steve Runty was also an all-State choice.

Then he had a dream come true when coach Hank Amend and his staff chose Steve to the North team for the upcoming Shrine Bowl all-star football game.

Runty

Steve is one of nine players from Class B who will be playing for the Yankee squad. He's a 6-0, 174-pound quarterback who plays on a par with the best of them.

Runty, who will wear No. 52 in the Shrine game, also picked up high school honors as an outstanding basketball and track man.

Commission Denies Nuns' Housing Plan

The City County Planning Commission voted 5-1 for denial of an ordinance change that would permit unrelated members of a religious order to live in a single family district residence.

Those voting for denial said other types of living accommodations are available for use by religious orders other than a house in a single family district.

Commissioner Adam Breckenridge said the change "could lead to some neighborhood differences."

Residents appeared at a public hearing last week to object to a special permit which would allow nuns of the St. Francis order to live in a house at 56th and Garfield Sts.

Effect Resale

The objectors claimed the nuns' home would adversly effect the resale value of their homes.

The application was withdrawn by the applicant, St. Elizabeth Hospital, after the denial.

Commission Chairman Ed Perry was the lone supporter of the ordinance change. He said that such a home would not be offensive to neighborhood residents. Planning Director Douglas Brogden had recommended the commission approve the change.

Ordinance Now Prohibits

The present ordinance prohibits no more than two unrelated persons from living in a single family district home.

The commission also recommended denial on a zone change from B Two Family Dwelling to K Light Industry on property on the north side of Y St. between 30th and 33rd Sts.

Robert Brown had requested the change of zone to build a small appliance repair store on part of the land.

Breckenridge objected to the commission having to hear zone change requests from residential to non-residential on land that a person does not own or control.

Consider Change

Breckenridge asked that a change in proceedings be considered.

He suggested a majority of the property owners involved be required for requesting a change of zone from residential to non-residential use.

Commissioners also recommended denial of a zone change from AA Rural for A Residential for 80 acres of land west of Hwy. 77 at the Turnpike Rd. that Lincoln Securities Co. requested for residential development.

School Tax Hike

Area farmers had protested the change claiming school taxes would increase with more children living in the area.

The commission also made the following recommendations:

—Approved final plat of Capitol Beach Manor 5th Add., Salt Lake and West St.

—Approved the Lincoln Electric System land purchase at 91st and A St. for a substation.

—Approved change of zone from H-2 Highway Commercial to K Light Industry on property located on south side of W. Cornhusker at NW 7th St., requested by Smith, Kline and French Laboratories.

—Approved change of zone from H-2 Highway Commercial to K Light Industry on property located north of Cornhusker Hwy. near 36th St., requested by Donald Buls and wife.

—Denied change of zone from A-2 Single Family to K Light Industry on property between P and Q Sts. at Brookside Dr., suggested special permit be obtained instead, requested by Lincoln Equipment Co.

—Deferred change of zone from B Two Family, A-2 Single Family and G Local Business to I Commercial on property between Meredeth and Lowell and 46th and 47th Sts., requested by Ned Saunders.

—Approved change of zone from B Two Family to I Commercial on property at 11th and Plum Sts., requested by planning director.

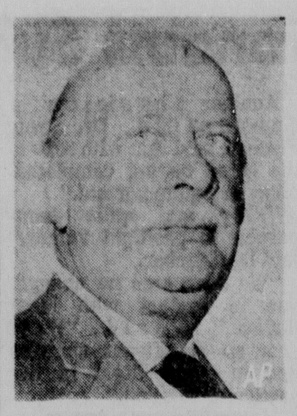
—Approved change of zone from G Local Business to A-2 Single Family on northwest corner of W. Van Dorn and So. Coddington requested by S. E. Copple.

—Deferred special permit for rearrangement of trailer court at 60th and Platte Ave., requested by John Loos Jr.

—Approved special permit to construct parking lot at 66th and Starr Sts., requested by Lloyd Hinkley.

—Approved general concept of parking lot at 48th and Normal, requested by Lloyd Martl.

—Approved preliminary plat of Green Acres, W. Van Dorn and So. Coddington.



HAS DEBTS

Rep. Seymour Halpern, N.Y., says there is no conflict of interest between his position on the House Banking Committee and the fact he has many outstanding bank loans and debts. According the Wall Street Journal, Halpern has debts of more than $100,000, including sizable loans from several banks.

Counties Partially Blamed For State Hospital Problems

County tendencies to commit youths with behavior control problems rather than psychiatric illnesses was partially blamed for the growing pressure on Lincoln State Hospital by officials of the Department of Public Institutions.

They also noted staff recruiting difficulties caused by inadequate salaries adds to the woes of the institution.

The Lincoln hospital has an 84-bed young people's service, the only one in the state's mental health program.

State Institutions Director Donald Duncan said cooperation of the counties regarding the hospital's waiting list for children and youths has generally been good in the past.

His comments followed publicity given Wednesday to the hospital's turndown of two Lancaster County commitments for lack of space. Involved were a teenage boy and girl.

Dr. Harry Mahannah, psychiatrist in charge of the hospital's adolescent service, said the girl was a behavior control case, not mentally ill, in his opinion.

Dr. Robert Osborne, the state medical services director, said the hospital's waiting list for adolescents will continue to grow unless more staff is provided.

However, he said the underlying problem is the growing trend of people and officials across Nebraska to want to commit a young person with a problem instead of trying to do something at home through local services.

He predicted that LB286, signed this week, will encourage more commitments generally to state mental hospitals because the bill relieves counties of 75% of patient costs if families are unable to pay. Before the legislative change, counties assumed 100% of the cost.

Dr. Osborne suggested the tax relief measure should make it possible for counties to provide more community services for disturbed or behavior-problem individuals instead of waiting and then shipping them off to state-operated hospitals.

Duncan said that counties have the authority to provide interim care for mental patients until they can be admitted to a state hospital.

Tiemann Plans To Participate In Panel Discussion

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann and three other governors will participate in California Friday in a panel discussion of state government problems.

The other chief executives are Govs. Dewey Bartlett of Oklahoma, David F. Cargo of New Mexico and Don Samuelson of Idaho.

The four will present their views to a group of business and community leaders from 11 western states at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Tiemann said he will spend only one day on the trip but would use the opportunity to speak with industrialists at the Beverly Hills gathering about Nebraska's drive for new industry.

New Mars Photos Show Fine Details

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 6 televised Wednesday night a grab bag of wonders of the wild Martian landscape — craters in great size and abundance than shown before, dark lines reminiscent of canals, light streaks not explained, possible mountain ranges, drifting clouds.

The 17 pictures snapped as the spacecraft headed for a 2,130 mile high flyby of the mystery planet Thursday were less clear than scenes from earth telescope pictures, but showed many details not visible from earth.

The abundance of craters seemed to indicate that the Martian surface is much like that of the moon: many large craters, pocked with many smaller ones.

New Details Seen

Dr. Robert Leighton, California Institute of Technology astronomer who commented on the photos as they were televised at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said in a summation: "The pictures tonight showed many details never seen before. I think the most exciting thing is the possibility of craters on the edge of the south polar cap."

This cap, the most prominent feature in 33 pictures televised Tuesday night and also in Wednesday night's batch, had an unexpectedly ragged edge. The latest pictures indicated the raggedness was due to many large, circular craters.

Mariner 4, flying by in 1965, televised scenes of a lunarlike landscape but was so close — 6,800 miles — its camera could not cover enough area to show craters that might be hundreds of miles wide.

Mariner 6's 24 flyby pictures sent across 58 million miles of space will be stored on tape and played back Thursday night, but not televised. Scientists will make selected prints available to news media Friday.

Signals Halt

Just before Wednesday night's pictures came through, signals from Mariner 7 went silent for reasons unknown. Experts hoped to get it going before it passes Mars five days after No. 6.

The second batch of shots was taken between 473,000 and 111,000 miles.

They showed the egg-shaped image — part of the planet is in shadow — glowing dully against a black background, with features changing as it rotated.

Leighton said there is nothing in the photos to indicate Mars has life. But nothing of that nature was expected from such distant shots.

Any indication of persistent cloudiness, he added, might support theories of some sort of vegetation. But the only clouds sighted were not persistent.

Woman, 107, Has Advice

Philadelphia (AP) — Mrs. Ella Dewes got her wish on her 107th birthday Wednesday — a cake with whipped cream icing and peaches.

When asked what she felt about the present generation, Mrs. Dewes replied, "If they want my advice, they can come to me and I'll give it to 'em."

Blood Tests Indicate Astronauts Suffered No Ill Effects

Space Center, Houston (AP) — Doctors testing the blood of Apollo 11 astronauts Wednesday said they could find no evidence the spacemen suffered ill-effects from their exposure to moon dust.

Blood was taken from astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins early Wednesday and a doctor reported later that preliminary analysis shows "no changes" from what it was before the spacemen blasted off for the moon.

Blood also was taken from Dr. William Carpentier and engineer John Hirasaki who are in quarantine with the astronauts.

Another physician in quarantine, Dr. Craig Fischer, said that with 90% of the blood testing completed, "they are quite normal."

"They are quite comparable to preflight values," said Dr. Fischer.

"We have seen no changes due to contact with lunar surface," he said. "We've seen no significant changes due to space flight in this particular mission."

Meanwhile, an Australian scientist said tests of moon material "indicate that the geochemistry of the moon shows interesting differences from that of earth."

Dr. S. R. Taylor of the Australian National University said chemical tests of the moon dust show it has about 40 chemical elements, a low alkali content and has no marked degree of iron or condritic meteorites.

There are characteristics frequently found in hardened lava and the findings add weight to the theory of volcanic action existing on the moon.

Armstrong First Words Misquoted

©The New York Times

New York — Those first historic words from Neil A. Armstrong when he stepped on the moon — "That's One Small Step For Man, One Giant Leap For Mankind" — were not exactly what the Apollo 11 commander actually said.

When Armstrong spotted the quotation in the mission transcript after his return to earth, he was reported Wednesday to have said he was misquoted.

There should have been an "a" before "man," the astronaut said.

The article "a" apparently went unrecorded in the transmission because of static, a spokesman for the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston said in a telephone interview.

Whatever the reason, it makes a slight but significant change in the meaning of Armstrong's words.

Stock Market Bounces Back

New York (AP) — The stock market skidded through the "psychologically important" 800 level of the Dow Jones industrial average Wednesday then bounced right back above it to finish a winner in a roller-coaster session.

Credited by analysts with helping the market pull out of its skid, in purt, was the steepness of the market's drop in recent trading "which was bound to draw some bargain hunting" and reports that declining short-term commercial-loan interest rates raised hopes that other interest rates, such as the prime rate, might follow suit.

The prime rate currently is at a record 8½ per cent.

A spokesman for Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. said there was "no truth" to rumors circulating in Wall Street that the bank was going to lower the prime rate.

The administration's tight money policy, an analyst said, "has resulted in the high rates, and business has been sorely pinched by this."

The Dow industrials closed up 1.62 at 803.58, the first time they had closed in the plus column since July 17 when they advanced 3.75. Before coming back, the DJI slid through the 800 level in the first half hour of trading and was off 9.11 by noon. It then began to cut its losses.

Of 1,606 issues traded, 691 advanced, and 659 declined. It was the first time gains had finished ahead of losses since May 29.

There were no new highs for the year but 662 new lows.

Aetna Life & Casualty, the most-active issue on the Big Board, was off 2⅞ at 35¼. A 508-200-share block of Aetna was traded.

U.S. Steel, which reported lower quarterly earnings was off 1⅛ at 39. Other steels mostly were soft, although Republic gained ¼ to 39¾.

Volume of 15.58 million shares — largest since 19.35 million shares were traded April 30 — compared with a turnover of 13.63 million Tuesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose .6 to 285.4, with industrials up .9, rails up .3, and utilities up .4.

There were 68 blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board, compared with 58 Tuesday.

The American Stock Exchange index — off 19 cents at noon — closed up 17 cents at $25.19.

Of 1,058 issues traded, 500 advanced, and 406 declined.

Volume was 5.99 million shares, compared with 6.0 million Tuesday.

Wheat Futures Rally Sharply

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures prices rallied sharply Wednesday for the second straight day on the Chicago Board of Trade and contributed some strength to a generally rising market in all major commodities.

Speculative buying was the persistent prod in the wheat pit as prices rose well over 1 cent again after a close of 5-cent selloff Monday. Milling firm purchases and reports of dimmer crop outlooks in Russia, West Germany and Canada were other influences.

Deferred deliveries of soybeans made an even sharper rise, close to 2 cents, helped along by processor purchases and reported sales of 900,000 bushels to Holland and Denmark.

The upsurge of corn prices gained momentum, also on reported export sales of a million bushels for August movement, a sharply higher cash price at Gulf ports and reports of rain damage in the Midwest.

At the close, wheat was 1½ to 1¾ cents higher, September 1.24½; corn was ⅞ to 1⅛ cents higher, September 1.22⅜; oats was ⅜ to ⅝ of a cent higher, September 59¼; rye was ¼ of a cent lower to ½ cent higher, September 1.10½, and soybeans were 1⅛ to 1⅞ cents higher, August 2.63¾.

Hunt For Plane Crash Ends

Auburn (AP) — Officials called off a search Wednesday night less than three hours after a motorist reported seeing what appeared to be a crashing airplane, smoke and fire.

No wreckage was found. No planes were reported missing by civilian or military authorities.

Deputy Nemaha County Sheriff Gerry Daffer said the owner of a gas station took the report from a traveling salesman who periodically stopped in town.

Daffer said the unidentified salesman reported being four miles south of Auburn when he saw an object heading downward from the sky in an area that would be bounded by U.S. 73-75 on the west, Nebraska City on the north and the Missouri River on the east.

A plane from Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha joined officials and local fliers in searching for wreckage, Daffer said, but there was no indication of a crash.

Daffer said another report at about the same time also suggested an object had fallen in the area.

"I think it was a meteorite," Daffer said. "A big one can create quite a sight."

Daffer said no additional search effort would be made until a report from somewhere indicated a plane was missing that could have fallen in the area.

First Fidelity Life Officials Predict $10 Million Rise

First Fidelity Life Insurance Co. of Lincoln, celebrating its fifth anniversary Wednesday, is expected to have a $10 million annual production increase in 1969 over the previous year, according to a company official.

Marion Schuler, director of agencies, made the report and prediction at a meeting of the board and the company's 10 general agents.

Premium income from credit life policies through June 30 was up $46,000 from that date a year ago, according to administrative vice president, John N. Stunkel.

Frank Landis, president of First Fidelity and its subsidiary, Homestead Mutual Insurance Co., reported that Homestead production for the first six months of 1969 is double the total for all of 1968.

Five new bank life insurance agencies were added during the past six months, Schuler said.

Antitrust Suit Is Threatened Against Telephone Company

Washington (AP) — The government threatened the giant International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. Wednesday with an antitrust suit if it goes ahead with plans to acquire the Grinnell Corp.

The Justice Department said both ITT and Grinnell were notified of the government plans in response to inquiries from lawyers of the two firms.

ITT, the nation's eleventh largest industrial corporation, had sales last year of more than $4.1 billion. It already is the target of one government lawsuit and another threatened suit because of its merger activities.

Grinnell, a diversified firm with sales last year of more than $341.3 million, is the country's 268th biggest corporation. It is the largest manufacturer of automatic sprinkler fire alarm systems and a leading maker of plumbing and piping hardware.

New Front Is Opened By Israeli Air Forces

©The New York Times

Jerusalem — The Israelis opened a new front Wednesday — the northern border with Syria and Lebanon — in their aerial offensive against Arab ground forces.

With the Suez Canal area quiet after a week of Israeli air attacks against Egyptian positions, the jets were directed to an Arab guerilla staging area across the border from occupied Golan Heights.

An Israeli communique reported that the jets attacked "a number of terrorists on the southern slopes of the Hermon" (range) for about 15 minutes at midday.

The Israelis said all their planes returned safely.

An army officer said the base, believed to support between 400 and 500 irregulars, was "smack on the Lebanese-Syrian frontier."

The target area is far from populated areas in Lebanon, and well outside Beirut's effective control.

The action was directed against the base believed by Israeli defense chiefs to be responsible for most of the recent sabotage and shooting along roads and near settlements in the Golan region.
